Mr. and Mrs. John Landis, won the hearts of the audience and impressed the judges with her 30-second radio announcement done by Clementine the Cow.

HUBBARD WHITE MT. BROILERS

From calf to cow, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Are you in the dairy business to stay?

Are you ready to devote an hour or so of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual dairy.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your total operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your milking cows and young stock. Your management practices. Your roughage feeding program. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

We also conduct laboratory analysis of the roughages you feed to determine their nutrient content.

With the aid of computers, we then design a balanced feeding program specifically tailored to your operation and goals—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, while using a Pennfield customized feeding program, 30 herds this past year averaged 1,688 lbs. more milk and 64 lbs. more fat per cow than the previous year.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

Four day receipts 12,500 compared 10,700 for last week and 13,800 a year ago.

The fed cattle trade again followed an erratic pattern as uncertain transportation facilities continued to play a dominant role in day-to-day trading. Most interets were in need of cattle for immediate requirements but demand was usually limited to minimum numbers. The usual stimulation afforded by a higher carcass trade was not reflected in the live trade because of the unstable trasnportation situation. The overall finish of the steer and heifer supply was attractive with a liberal percentage choice although many consignments were mixed 3-4 yield grades Slaughter steers made up approximately 50 and heifers 32. Cows comprised 15 and feeders only 2.

Life on the Farm

by Dieter Krieg, Editor

Dad stood by the side of the pick-up truck laughing out loud while listening to our plumber's philosophy.

Never showing awareness of his dry, comical wit, the middle-aged plumber spoke matter-of-factly in a low gravelly voice which went well with his unshaven face. Mr Johnson stared out the side window of his truck and took a few draws on his cigarette. You hardly ever saw him without one. Pausing a moment, he let each word come out riding on a cloud of smoke.

"When you have so many things to do that you don't know what to do first, you just go fishing," he said, returning the burning cigarette to his mouth the way George Burns uses a cigar to plug his mouth after the punch line

We could have been fishing all summer long had we taken the joke seriously

Aside from the usual chores involving livestock which can't be postponed, we had a delay in our work schedules because of plumbing problems and a heifer which needed assistance with her calf We had some hay to haul and two cows to get in for the breeder They had been let out by mistake after the morning milking

It was also time to get ready for silo filling, which in itself would take up most of a day -- maybe more if a problem arose One of the silage wagons had a flat tire but that wasn't really a problem The distributor had to be hauled up to the top of the silo, equipment had to be cleaned, greased, and oiled, the filler pipe had to be connected, and fields had to be opened

A section of fence by the woods needed mending, the lawn needed to be cut, and Mom wanted some help picking cherries

It's a good thing none of us in the family ever went fishing We never took time to find out what it's like and by this time didn't bother to think much about what we may have been missing

COMMENTS FROM READERS

Stick together

Editor

This is in reference to Joyce Bupp s column in the May 26th issue The way she put it on the line about how the powers-that-be in Washington want us to save gasoline, really expresses our feelings exactly

We must stick together or those powers that be in Washington will cause us to starve them to death It is time they realize how important the farmer is, and just where so much of the food comes from that this country lives on

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. A.Z. Haines,
Rising Sun, Md.

Guernseys praised

Editor:

A dairyman likes his cows, he is proud of them He even finds encouragement through watching his animals when the times get rough

The weather is so bad - farmers could be mad,

Mud and water, fog and cold - but his Guernsey cows seem bold.

Thriving on the wettest crop - color in the milk comes up

Grass is still their favorite chow - really smart the Guernsey cow.

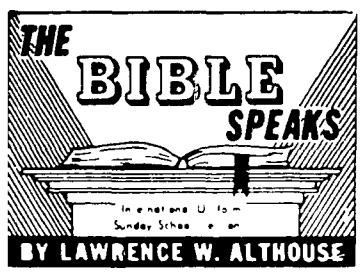
Eating, chewing, licking salt - nothing seems to be at fault,

Guernsey cows are so content, rainy weather won't offend

Keep the Guernsey Milk on flowing! It is certainly worth knowing That this milk has taste appeal and a trademark as a seal Goodness is in every sip, you can feel it on your lip Milk refreshes; drink it cold! It gives strength for young and old

K.D. Linde
Oxford, Pa.

(Note: Mr. Linde's letter was written in early June when rain was a part of nearly every weather report).



THE BONUS

Lesson for June 24, 1979

Background Scripture:
1 Kings 3:3-28; 4:29-34

Devotional Reading:
Proverbs 3 13-18

There is a story about a man who found a bottle washed up upon the shore. Upon opening it, he found he had released a genie who offered to grant him three wishes The man was overcome with his great fortune and foolishly wished for the wrong things In a short time, he found himself no better off than he had been and the genie gone

God said "Ask...."

Some times that's the way it is with our prayers. Although praying is not the same as wishing, there is some similarity in that both normally grow out of our deepest desires Rightly conceived and practiced, prayer, as Harry Emerson Fosdick once said, is meant to be, not "a pious form, but a vital transaction " Prayer can be a powerful force in our lives and we must approach this opportunity with a due sense of respect and ask for what it can mean to us

Frequently, however, prayer is approached in a careless, indifferent manner. People pray in a perfunctory way that indicates they don't really believe prayer can make any specific difference. Such prayers are like expensive long-distance calls in which the caller is content to chat aimlessly about the weather. If prayer is not to be a wasted opportunity we must be sure when we pray that our brains are in gear before we press down on the accelerator

Solomon, King David's son and successor, is a case in point One night early in his reign, he dreamed that God came to him, saying, "Ask what I shall give you " To Solomon as well as to us it seems a magnificient offer Put yourself in Solomon's place suppose tonight you should dream that God made such an offer to you! Yet, is that really so strange an idea? Isn't that what Jesus tells us God is always saying to us? "Ask, and it will be given you; seek and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you" (Matthew 7 7)

An Understanding Mind

Solomon takes the offer seriously and he responds with a request that is both well-thought-out and indicative of what is in his heart 'Give thy servant therefore an understanding mind to govern the people, that I may discern between good and evil . " (1 Kings 3 9). Unlike many who might foolishly ask for riches, power or comfort, Solomon asks for something that he really needs wisdom

But Solomon, we say, you missed a chance to ask for the things all of us are dying to possess! God doesn't see it that way at all First of all, he will give Solomon precisely what he has asked for But because he asked for the right thing, God will throw in the other things as a kind of "bonus " "I give you also what you have not asked, both riches and honor, so that no other king shall compare with you, all your days" (3:13) The words are reminiscent of those of Jesus: "Seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things shall be yours as well" (Matthew 6.33).

That is the bonus that is given for a sincere and thoughtful prayer

NOW IS THE TIME

By Max Smith, Lancaster County Agricultural Agent
Phone 394-6851

TO HARVEST STRAW...

In recent years the value of bedding materials has been extremely high; therefore, a ready market should be available for all straw producers. Farmers should make an effort to harvest all of the straw. At the present time, Winter barley is being combined and within the few weeks the winter wheat crop will be ready. If weather and weed conditions permit, it is suggested that the grain be cut as low as possible in order to harvest maximum straw yield. If farmers are not in position to utilize the straw in their own livestock operations, then there is little doubt that the extra will again bring a favorable market price.

TO BE AWARE OF HERBICIDES...

Too many of the calls coming in to the Extension Office during the growing season relate to the chemicals that have been put on nearby crops. All users of chemical weed killers should read the label on the container and follow directions carefully. Also, it is very important for herabicide applicators to recognize the possibility of spray drift to nearby crops and shrubbery. The reckless use of these materials can develop into very poor public relations and eventually to court action. We urge spray operators to realize the danger of herbicide drift to nearby property and crops.

TO RENOVATE STRAWBERRIES...

Since the harvest of the strawberry crop is nearly over, it is a good time to plan for next year. In most cases, plants that have yielded two or more crops again cannot be expected to do as well in the future However, if the current planting is to be used for another year we suggest that the rows be narrowed by the use of mechanical cultivation and followed by top dressing of fertilier. These practices will keep the berry plants in row and encourage additional runners to increase next years yield In the case of a new planting of strawberries you are urged to fertilize the area during the month of June and again early in August. This extra plant food will enable the setting of runner plants which will help increase yield next year. Some attention to strawberries during the summer months will increase monetary results next year

TO ORDER FALL SEED SUPPLIES...

Even though we are at the beginning of the Summer months it is still not too early to be ordering supplies for late Summer and Fall planting. In about six weeks many alfalfa growers will be making their August seedings, winter grains will be seeded during September or October. Some of the best experiences in farm planning in order to seed supplies months in advance of the time you will need them. When this is done the products will be more likely to be the variety of seeds desired. Do not be guilty of putting off the ordering of your supplies until a few days before they are needed. This practice usually helps in having the kind of crop that is desired.

Only Banvel® herbicide offers so many ways to control weeds.

You can use Banvel herbicide at more different times in the corn production cycle than many other herbicides

Pre-emergence Tank-mixed with Lasso, to control both grasses and broadleaf weeds

Early layby In corn up to 5 inches Banvel as an overlay at a one pint rate gets early and late weeds

Post-emergence* In corn up to 36 inches, Banvel gets rid of many tough-to-kill weeds that 2,4-D misses and of course the easy weeds too

*Fall treatment Air application knocks down hemp dogbane permitting easier harvest

Tough-to-get weeds On the Banvel label note the stubborn species that Banvel controls

Rescue When weeds threaten a takeover (you couldn t get into the field earlier) Banvel can help save your crop

Come see us now for your supply of Banvel herbicide the Big Plus from Velsicol

Farmers report fuel shortages, tight supplies

HARRISBURG - Short supplies of LP gas and diesel fuel were reported by 14 and 29 per cent of farm operators, respectively Thirty per cent of the reports said gasoline supplies were tight and a few reported deficit supplies

Pennsylvania's farm operators were treated to the best week for fieldwork in the past month during the week ending June 17. All areas of the state reported six days suitable for fieldwork, which include cultivating, spraying, making hay an planting corn as well as harvesting green peas, strawberries and sweet cherries.

Soil moisture continued to decline during the week, with only 12 per cent reporting surplus soil moisture. Most surplus supplies were reported in northern areas.

Corn is now all planted, finishing the same date as last year and normal. Some replanting is still being done.

Corn is now an average of 10 inches high, a week ahead of the seven inches reported a year ago at this time. The crop is at eight inches in the north, nine inches in the central counties and 13 inches in the south. Some northern farm operators report recent growth is slow and germination is poor on late plantings.

Vegetable crops are progressing well, and reports indicate cabbage and tomatoes are growing rapidly. Sweet corn now stands at 12 to 14 inches tall. Tomatoes are entering the early blossom stage in central and northern regions and setting fruit in the south. Sugar peas are currently being harvested and pod peas are rapidly reaching maturity. The strawberry crop is at its peak with most reports noting excellent quality and yield.

Sweet cherries are ripe in the south and turning color in central and northern areas. Apples are sizing well with only scattered reports of apple scab. Some apples have been affected by fire blight in the south. Pears have been hard hit by fire blight in all areas of the state.

The first cutting of alfalfa is now one-half complete, with a slight bit of second cutting made, about two days behind 1978. Clo-tim is one-third cut at this time. About one half of the reporters rate hay quality good and the other half rate it as fair. Some reports of poor hay quality were received from the north. Pastures are providing an average amount of feed in most localities.

At 90 per cent planted, soybeans are five days ahead of the 78 per cent pace set last year. Northern counties report 94 per cent, central counties are at 92 per cent and 85 per cent are planted in the south.

Tobacco is 71 per cent planted compared to 67 per cent a year ago. Plant growth so far has been good.

Barley is 10 per cent ripe with another 45 per cent turning. A year ago no barley was ripe at this time. Under five per cent is ripe in northern and central counties, but the south reports 20 per cent ripe.

Wheat, at ten per cent turning, is six days ahead of the less than five per cent turning a year ago. Northern and central areas report under five per cent turning, but the south reports 25 per cent turned and a small amount ripe. Storms have caused some lodging. Oats are 23 per cent headed, a week ahead of the eight per cent last year. The north stands at six per cent in head, central counties are at 24 per cent and the south is at 42 per cent. Cereal leaf beetle is again being reported as a problem.

This dairyman built 'cow hutches'

By DIETER KRIEG

NORRISVILLE, Md. - When Darrel Comer knew that his two sons wanted to become dairy farmers, he realized that the old 18-stanchion barn would never do. So he went ahead building an entirely new set-up, doing most of the work himself. He estimates the new operation, including grain storage and drying facilities is worth about $125,000. But he only has about half of that amount of money in it because he did the work himself and he constantly looked for supplies at bargain prices.

For example, a railroad car loaded with lumber caught fire one day because of the brakes overheating. Comer saw an advertisement for the lumber in the local newspaper and purchased the entire load at a salvage price. More

(Turn to Page 36)

If he had to do it over again, Darrell Comer would extend the roof line about eight more inches.

Rebates offered on irrigation equipment

OMAHA, Neb. - Valmont Industries of Valley, Neb., has announced a special program of substantial rebates and low lease rates for irrigation equipment.

The company's dealers are offering rebates of up to $3000 and lease rates as low as 7.37 per cent on automatic irrigation equipment purchased this Summer. In fact, the rebate goes as high as $6000 on the company's full-sized center-feed Rainger linear move system.

The program started June 16. Every 30 days, the rebates will decline and the lease rates will rise slightly. The program ends September 14 with the best values offered early in the program.

On some leases, the farmer or rancher who buys makes a 10 per cent first payment can then wait 16 to 18 months - (two harvests) - before making a second.

The rebates and leases are offered on all types of systems, including Corner Systems, linear moves, regular center pivots and slurry machines.

Karen Hornbaker named dairy princess

NEW KINGSTON — Karen Hornbaker, 17 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hornbaker, Shippensburg, captured the Cumberland County Dairy Princess title Wednesday night. Competing with five other girls the 1979 graduate of Shippensburg Area High School, was crowned by the 1978 princess, Kathy Strock Karen won her audience with her presentation depicting a housewife in curlers shopping at the supermarket While everyone listened, she told about meeting the dairy princess in the store who told her all the good things about milk.

Karen will be attending Mont Alto Campus of Penn State in the Fall, majoring in pre-veterinary medicine

In school, Karen had been senior class vice president and a member of the drama club. She has also been an active 4-H member for nine yeras, and told that she actively helps with the work on her parents' dairy farm

She hopes to reach all age levels during her reign as dairy princess, in telling the importance of drinking milk

First runner-up of the contest was Sharon Cornman, 17, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Creedin Cornman, Carlisle R6.

For her presentation, Sharon talked of "From Moo to You, using posters to tell how milk gets from the cow to the consumer.

Sharon is graduate of Boiling Springs High School. She will shortly be starting a job at a nearby veterinary clinic.

Ann Basehore, a senior at Cumberland Valley High School, was named second runner up. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Basehore, Mechanicsburg, she used her cow model "Diane" to tell of all the milk products that are good for youngsters to eat.

Held at the Cumberland Valley High School, the contest was attended by approximately 250 people. A buffet supper was held for the judges and contestants, and afterwards each young lady had a private interview with the three judges, Mrs. Shayne Dum, Landisburg, Ralph McGregor, East Berlin, and Kendace Borry Allen, Manheim.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Whirl-A-Ways, a square dancing group.

Berks County Ag Expo a big success

By DIETER KRIEG

READING — The first ever Berks County Agricultural Exposition, held at the Berkshire Mall last week, was a tremendous success, according to Mrs. Robert Kopfer, who was involved with the affair on a daily basis.

The Fleetwood area dairy farm wife commented: "We'll definitely want to be coming back. With no Reading Fair this year, this Expo was our biggest touch with the city."

The Agricultural Exposition featured farm product displays as well as fun and games for young and old alike. In previous years the emphasis had been strictly on milk, since June is Dairy Month. This year, however, organizers decided to bring all phases of agriculture into the shopping center.

Organizers of the 6-day long event called it the first and largest indoor agricultural show in the area. Representatives from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture called it a positive step towards promoting Pennsylvania's farm products. Agriculture Department Secretary Penrose Hallowell and his deputy, Chester Heim, were both on hand to observe and offer congratulatory remarks.

The big event came to a conclusion last Saturday night with the crowning of the 1979 Berks County Dairy Princess. (See article on that elsewhere in this issue.)

"Children especially liked the hatched chick display," said Mrs. Kopfer. The ladies were impressed with crafts, particularly the quilts that were made and later given away to lucky contest entrants.

In his remarks during a dinner marking the beginning of Berks County Agriculture Week, Deputy Agriculture Secretary Chet Heim emphasized that Pennsylvanians need to become totally aware that agriculture keeps the state growing. He congratulated Berks County groups and individuals for their efforts.

In a question and answer session following the dinner, Heim said he believed it would be more economical for Pennsylvania to keep the present Farm Show Building. He said it could be improved and maintained for less than a third of the money it would take to build a new complex. A new building, while desirable, is impractial at this time, he said.

Asked about a milk marketing security fund, the deputy secretary revealed that the Department is proposing the fund be contributed to by both dairymen and dealers.

xOn farmland preservation, Heim noted that legislation is being proposed and worked on, but no final action on the matter is expected this year.

Tuberculosis and brucellosis are on the rise in Pennsylvania, according to Heim, who is encouraging preventive measures such as vaccinations. "We thought we were home free, but we got a little careless. It's a lot more practical to spend time and money on prevention rather than on indemnity programs. It's not just good economics, it's also good public relations," he exclaimed.

Heim noted that agriculture is Pennsylvania's second largest industry. He'd like to see more of the kind of efforts that were displayed here at the Berkshire Mall last week.

Among the farm leaders who helped to develop the Berks County Agricultural Expo were Donald Duncan, dairy farmer and show chairman; Jack Kooker, president of the Berks County Farmers Association; Feryl Treichler, master of the Berks County Pomona Grange No. 43; and James Haldeman, senior agriculture agent from the Berks County Extension Service.

More than a dozen farm organizations, commodity groups, and related agencies took part in the promotional and educational activities.

Many visitors to the Berks County Agricultural Exposition found the chick display fascinating.

Time for farmland assessment sign-ups

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - August 1 is absolute deadline for filing farmland assessment application with the tax assessor. Forms are available from him. If one has been on FLA, he will get your forms in the mail. If applying for the first time, one had better call him for the form.

The August 1 deadline date is critical. No extensions are possible for filing beyond that date.

If one has any questions, he should contact his assessor first. He's the "administrator" of the program in your municipality.

Other questions? In New Jersey, call John VanZandt, Coordinator for Rural Resource Services, New Jersey Dept. of Agriculture, 609-292-5511, or call the Hunterdon County Extension Service, 201-788-1338.

Bob Schutzki, County Agricultural Agent, will again be scheduling a number of Farmland Assessment Workshops. Dates and times will be announced.

NEMA has things to crow about

PHILADELPHIA - Producer membership in the Northeast Egg Marketing Association has increased 30 per cent in the past year, it was reported at the recent NEMA board of directors meeting in Philadelphia. General Manager Bill Rent reported that the membership gains have contributed to a most successful year for UEP's Northeastern regional member.

In other board action, NEMA has become a member of the New York Metropolitan Food Council, the group currently working on the problem of sizable fines being levied against food distributors in New York City. The directors also approved the hiring of a second egg promoter to work under the direction of Regional Coordinator Chris Bushway. The purpose of the second promotion position is to provide support to Northeast and mid-Atlantic states in which no full-time egg promoter is working.

USDA orders payment by firm

NEW YORK, N.Y. - House of Good Celery, Inc., Syracuse, N.Y., failed to pay two reparation awards issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. One award, in the amount of $4,337, was issued in favor of a Washington shipper for a truckload of potatoes shipped in September of 1978. The other, in the amount of $6,600, was in favor of a Michigan shipper for celery shipped in August of 1978.

The firm failed to answer the charges, and USDA ordered payment of the amounts claimed due.

Ten southeastern youth chosen for PAFC

UNIVERSITY PARK - Ten outstanding boys and girls have been named winners in the Cooperative Business Education Program sponsored by the Southeast Co-op Council and will represent this area at the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Youth Institute at Shippensburg State College, July 8-11.

Those chosen to attend the Institute are: Louis Dolenti, Alan England, Duane Hershey, Patty Jenkins, Susan Kulp, David Lantz, David Lytle, Jeffrey Stoltzfus and James Wiand as first year scholars; and Andy Blank, an agribusiness explorer who will return to the Institute for the second year.

Winners were selected on the basis of their knowledge of the business enterprise system in America, the cooperative way of doing business, and on activities of the participants identifying them with school, community, church, and youth organizations.

These young leaders will be accompanied to Shippensburg by Kenneth S. Risser, secretary-treasurer, who will act as chaperone and resource person for the delegation.

The Institute program is designed to teach youth more about the business enterprise system in the United States, to help in planning their future by pointing out career possibilities in agribusiness, and provide opportunities for individual leadership development.

Approximately 200 young adults, representing the best of over 4000 participants in the annual P.A.F.C. youth education program, will attend the four-day event.

The Institute is a joint effort of the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperative, local Co-op Councils, and the College of Agriculture of The Pennsylvania State University.

A total of 40 local boys and girls took part in this year's cooperative program sponsored by the Chester-Delaware Co-op Council.

4-H club meets

LITITZ - The Lititz-Manheim 4-H club held its third meeting on June 14. The meeting consisted of a progressive supper starting at the Gingrich residence with crackers and juice. The next place was the Myer's residence for the main course of Lasagna and finally at the Miller's residence for homemade ice cream.

The business meeting was held before the ice cream was dished. The first item discussed was the collection of dues. It was brought up to sell deep wetbottom shoofly pies for a fund raising project. 4-H members are to take orders for these pies and bring them to the next meeting where they will receive the pies.

THE GREATEST FLY-TRAP EVER!

(Also effective for yellow jackets)

THE (OLD) FARMER'S ALMANAC

HOW MANY CHILDREN CAN A MOTHER HOUSEFLY HAVE IN SIX MONTHS?

Under ideal conditions, authorities say, 336 trillion houseflies (and it would take 31,688 years for a person to count to 1 trillion!) could develop from a single pair in one April to September season — just nine generations — if they all survived How fortunate their increase is limited by temperature, humidity, wind and living organisms which kill countless numbers Even so, the United States spends more than $165 million a year in efforts toward reducing fly abundance

Milk board warned high energy cost eroding profits

HARRISBURG - Clifford Tinklepaugh, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Grange's Dairy Committee, warned the Milk Marketing Board of spiraling energy costs eroding the profit margin of the dairy farmer at the Area 6 Milk Marketing Hearing recently.

"Rising fuel prices, coupled with the recent decontrolling of gas prices, may soon devour the dairyman's profit altogether," said Tinklepaugh.

Of the 16 counties in the West Central Milk Marketing Area, seven are in the Philadelphia Milk Shed, six are in the Pittsburgh Milk Shed, and three are in the New York Milk Shed.

Tinklepaugh pointed out that even with the variety of prices received within Area 6, the danger of profit loss was still evident.

The average return over production costs per quart, according to the Crop Reporting Service, for the New York Milk Shed was 1.5 cents. a little under two cents for the Pittsburgh Milk Shed, and about four cents in the Philadelphia Milk Shed.

"Since the price of gasoline and diesel fuel has risen rather dramatically," Tinklepaugh noted, "it would not be surprising is this necessary operational cost might diminish this already-narrow profit margin."

It was noted that bulk disel fuels had risen 11 per cent since January, and that bulk regular-leaded gasoline prices had risen 16 per cent during that same period.

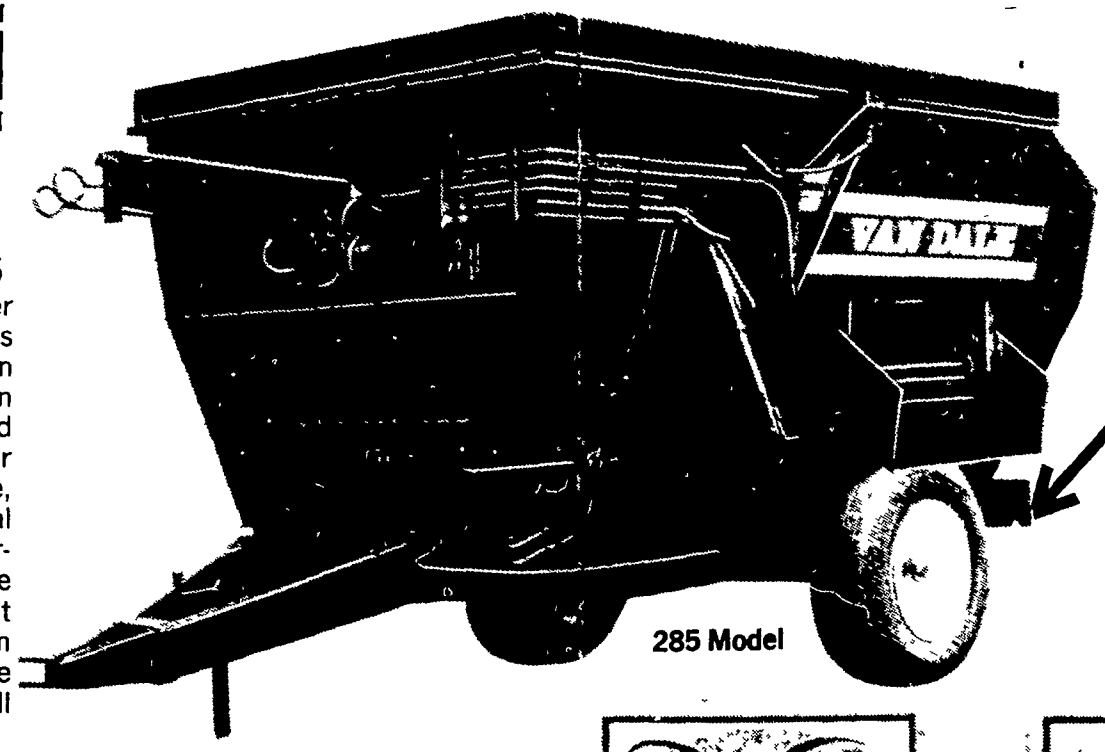
VAN DALE

TOTAL MIXED RATION (TMR) FENCELINE MIXER FEEDERS

Hitch up to the versatile mixer feeder that handles partial as well as full loads. Load up with haylage, corn silage, shelled corn, urea and protein concentrates. Then mix and blend on-the-go with PTO operated trailer or truck units. You feed fenceline, feedlot or pasture bunks with equal ease, in one pass. That kind of performance is no surprise once you've seen the kind of features we've built into these mixer feeders. Check them all out. Compare feature for feature with all other makes. We know you'll choose Van Dale.



285 Model

Center Discharge Hydraulic Conveyor
The VAN DALE center discharge design makes it easier to align the conveyor to the bunk and hold it in line The side door operates hydraulically So does the discharge conveyor You operate both from the tractor seat or truck cab Does not depend on PTO speed or ground speed to control flow of feed from conveyor This variable hydraulic feed control eliminates need to back up for another pass at the end of the bunk

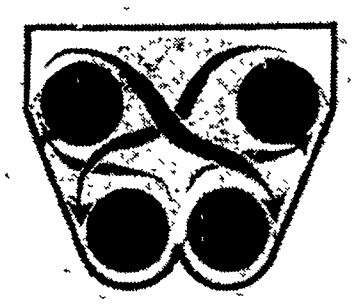
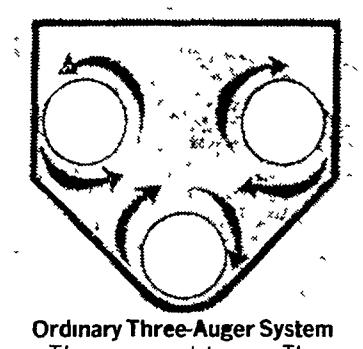
Our four-auger system moves feed ingredients in a double figure-8 (both horizontally and vertically) as it tumbles, churns, folds and blends for more complete mixing



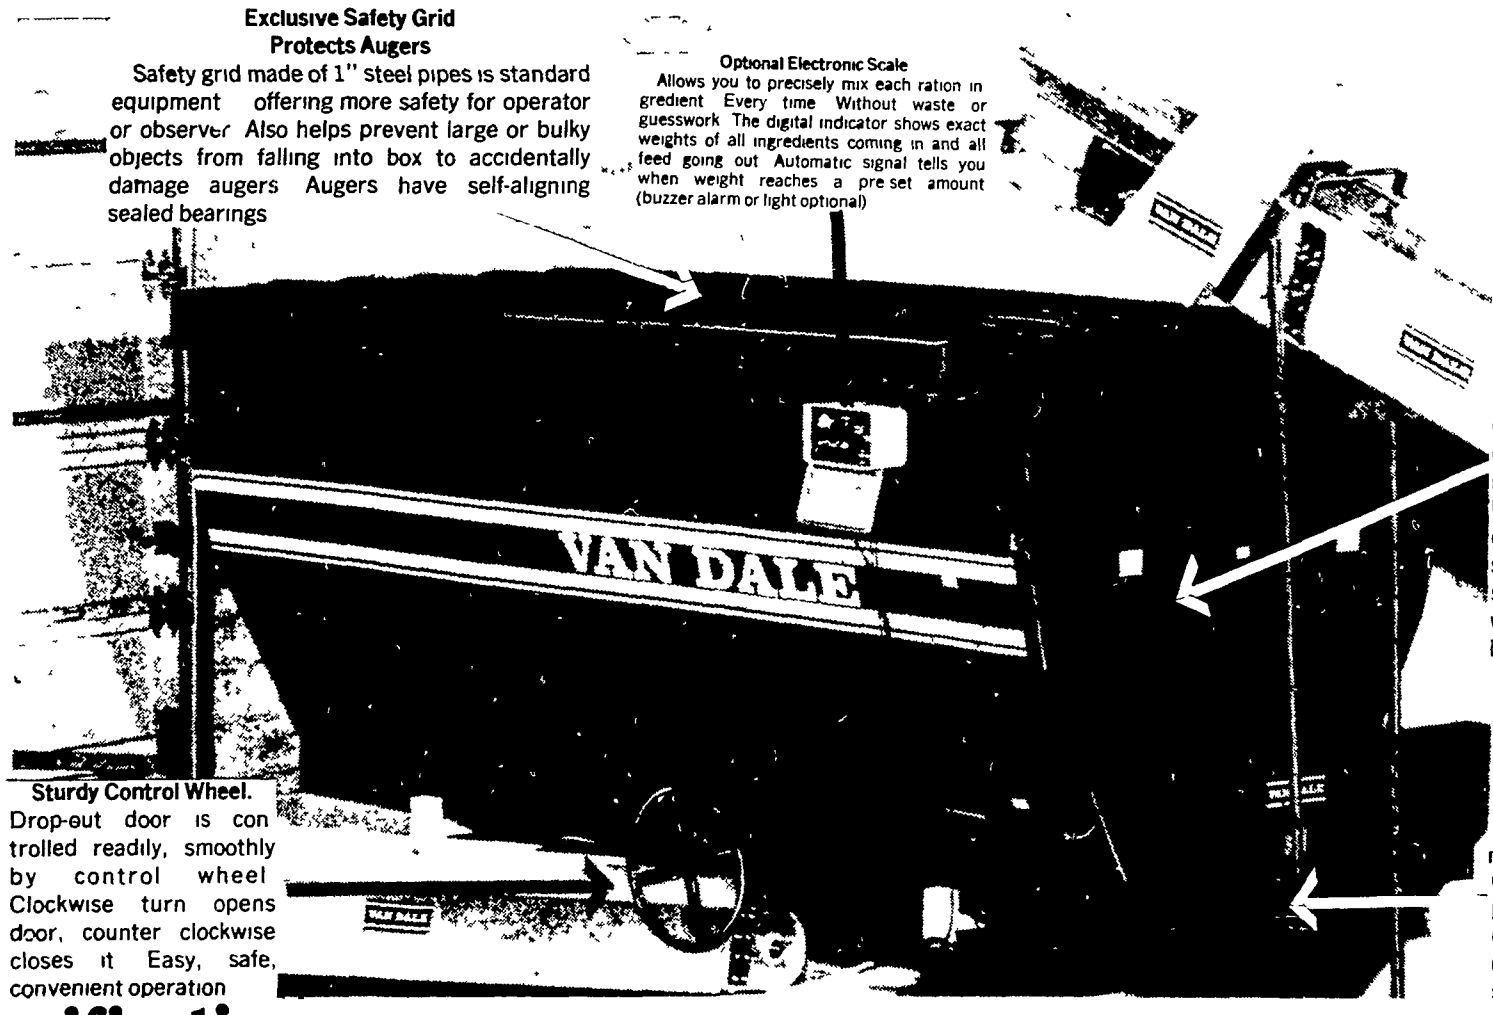
The VAN DALE Four- Auger System
Our four augers mean a fast thorough mix of all ingredients How fast? How's 3 to 5 minutes sound? And that's with a half or full load And, since we're moving feed half the distance and have four augers to do it, Van Dale requires less horsepower than most mixer feeders



Ordinary Three-Auger System
The competition Three augers, forced to move ingredients the full length of the box for a complete mix Compare that to Van Dale And other makes can't promise a total mix with a partial load, because the single bottom auger just rolls the feed instead of mixing

Exclusive Safety Grid Protects Augers
Safety grid made of 1" steel pipes is standard equipment offering more safety for operator or observer Also helps prevent large or bulky objects from falling into box to accidentally damage augers Augers have self-aligning sealed bearings

Optional Electronic Scale
Allows you to precisely mix each ration ingredient Every time Without waste or guesswork The digital indicator shows exact weights of all ingredients coming in and all feed going out Automatic signal tells you when weight reaches a pre set amount (buzzer alarm or light optional)



Fully enclosed Oil Bath Drive
Our rugged roller chain works in a continuous oil bath inside a sealed chamber The result is more complete lubrication, minimum maintenance and longer life Heavy duty roller chain runs on steel sprockets Unit is designed so you can remove augers without removing the bearings

Sturdy Control Wheel.
Drop-out door is controlled readily, smoothly by control wheel Clockwise turn opens door, counter clockwise closes it Easy, safe, convenient operation

Ample Power for Mixing and Blending
VAN DALE Stationary mixers have more than enough power Motor provides belt drive power directly to the drive shaft (Safety shield removed to show belts and pulleys)

STATIONARY MIXER

Any diaryman, breeder or beef operator knows that efficiency is the heart of a mechanical bunk feeder system. Feeding cattle Total Mixed Rations precisely blended helps build your return on investment through more meat or milk with less feed and protein. Now you can add mechanical mixing to bring you Total Mixed Rations (TMR). That's because we took all the features of VAN DALE mobile mixer feeders and put them into stationary units. And VAN DALE has the whole package ... silo unloaders, feeders, conveyors, electronic scales and stationary mixers.

Your VAN DALE mixer supplies the key to your entire automated TMR feeding system. Your mixer gives you complete control over your feeding program. Electronic scales let you know how much of each ingredient goes into the mixed ration The four auger figure-8 action mixes different rations in large or small loads for delivery to different pens of cattle You can be certain you are feeding the accurate, uniform Total Mixed Raion you want

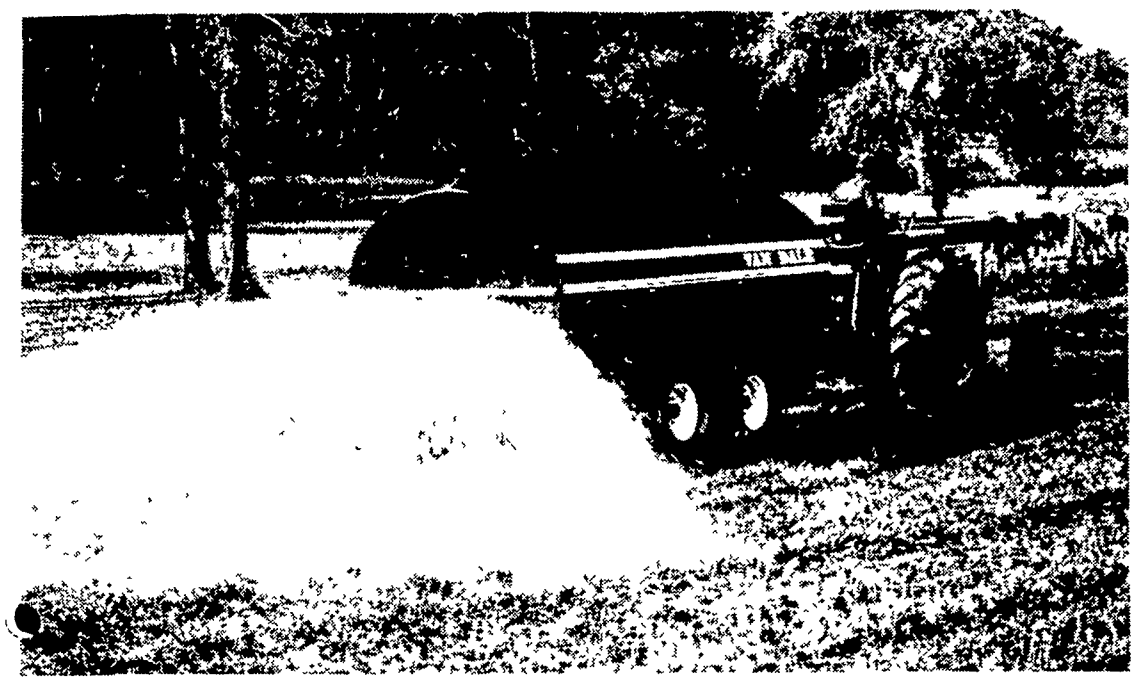
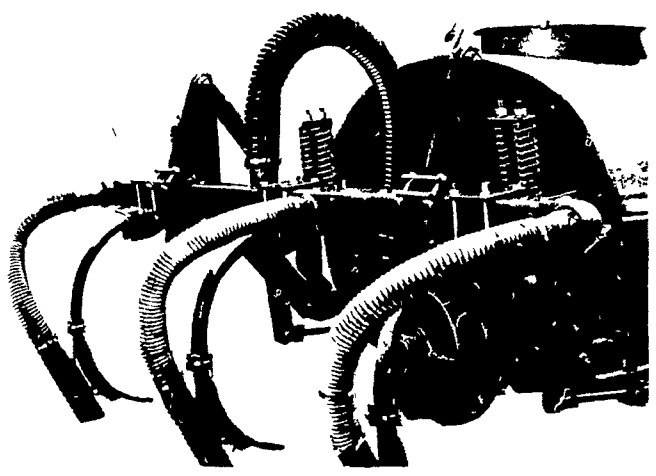
LIQUID MANURE TANK & SOIL INJECTOR



Liquid Manure Injector System
Optional accessory that helps keep down odors and minimize runoff. Master hose has 4" diameter; feeds liquid manure into 4" square, enclosed tool bar. From there, three feeder hoses connect to spring loaded knives that open up soil for injection. Adjustable width spacing permits use on sod, row crop and stubble fields. Available for both slinger and vacuum type units.



Go with the big performers in your beef or dairy operation: VAN DALE Liquid Manure Spreaders. Choose a big capacity tank that can handle your year-in, year-out manure disposal problem. Liquie Manure is the non-messy, profitable way to go. You're putting manure right onto the ground where it goes to work faster and does the most good. And liquid manure contains more nutrient value than dry, making its use even more beneficial.

Considerable savings in commercial fertilizer purchases can often be realized. You can now manage your assets to your advantage. The VAN DALE Slinger is built rugged so you can spread when time and weather are right.

The low, straight-back spread pattern does not blow manure all over the operator and equipment, still covers up to a 40' wide swath. And you don't have to drive over ground already spread.

A large fill hole provides easy access. Heavy, reinforced oval tank with full length beam supports a new, extra tough walking beam undercarriage gives maximum stability and easy maneuvering.

Inside, VAN DALE Slingers have a full length powerful 7' Auger that turns at 540 RPM to charge the impeller for more throw power. Especially important when using an injector to assure constant flow from start to finish. Keeps blanket of liquid manure. It's an exclusive, standard feature on all three VAN DALE Slinger models.

Combine the Slinger with a VAN DALE Agitator/Filler Pump and a VAN DALE Above Ground Storage Tank. You'll have a rugged manure system that will return dividends in labor and time saved for many, many years.

SEE THE NEW MAGNUM SILO UNLOADER DESIGNED AND ENGINEERED BY THE PIONEER IN THE SILO UNLOADER INDUSTRY

VAN DALE

A proud new achievement from the leading manufacturer of Non-Stop Feeding equipment. The MAGNUM 27 combines the best features of our popular DA 1230 and our rugged Industrial unloaders Here's a great new silo unloader that will deliver high capacity with any type of silage - even hard, frozen, or tough haylage - with ease.

The new MAGNUM 27 unloading action starts with more aggressive wall cleaners with replaceable knives Coupled with the dual, 7 and 8 inch differential speed augers this combination gives better wall presure for cleaner walls and maximum silage delivery to the impeller. The impeller is a large 27" diameter driven by an extra-heavy "C" section belt for more traction and longer belt life. There's still more - the MAGNUM 27 features quick release pins so you can fold the machine, maintaining perfect balance, and pull it to the top of the silo in minutes This makes it easy to fill 'n feed There's also a new compound radius chute and a new roller torque arm which is attached to a larger, heavier support triangle Add it all up and you have a performance champ that will give years of service consider this an honor. I want to thank my parents. I will need your support." Master of ceremonies Grover Gouker, Jr., of the Dale Carnegie Institute, pointed out that earlier in the day Lucinda had told him that her philosophy was, "Don't worry."

Lucinda Landis

Lucinda has met with school officials at Hempfield High School where she will be a senior and has made arrangements to graduate in January. "The people at the school were really great. They all wanted to hear my commercial." After completing her duties as Dairy Princess, she plans to enter the medical field. At school she is an assistant in the health office. She is also a member of the 4-H Dairy Club and a member of the youth group at the East Petersburg Mennonite Church.

Her parents milk nearly 200 head of Holsteins, with 300 head altogether. Lucinda said she enjoys helping out at home, especially with the outside work. She also works parttime for S. Clyde Weaver Meats, which she said helped her gain confidence in meeting people.

Nearly 300 persons watched the contest held in a setting of an old-fashioned country store. Peggy Kurtz Schnupp, 1975 Lancaster County Junior Miss, provided musical selections and did the choreography for the contestants. She was accompanied by Peggy Weber.

The five contestants spent the day having personal interviews at lunch at The Lemon Tree with the judges: Mrs. Jay Kopp, Middletown dairyman's wife; Hershey Bare, Lebanon County dairyman; and J. Lloyd Ebersole, assistant manager, Sire Power, Tunkhannock.

Retiring Dairy Princess Joyce Stoltzfus told the audience of her activities during the year and said, "I feel honored to have had the privilege." She visited 63 elementary and nursery schools, talking with nearly 8,600 children, in addition to talks with farm groups, Lions' Clubs, Brownie Troops and Farm Women Societies. She participated in several mall promotions and said the questions she received were "comical, amusing and challenging to answer."

The experience of meeting with school children was her favorite, according to Joyce. "I was encouraged by the enthusiasm of the children. It gave me confidence in the generation to come and their support of the dairy industry. I will cherish the memories."

Chairman for this year's event were Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Stauffer, Ephrata R1. Mrs. Robert H. Kauffman, Elizabethtown R1, served as decorations chairman and Mrs. Elvin Brenneman, Mount Joy R1, chaired the reception committee.

Good sanitation stressed at goat field day

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

MANHEIM - Saturday was a day of learning for local goat enthusiast who attended the annual Lancaster County Dairy Goat Association Field Day at Windy Hill Farm, Manheim R1, owned by Mr. and Mrs Jacob H. Fisher, Jr.

Nearly 40 persons attended the meeting designed to provide information on the raising of dairy goats both for adults and for the 4-H members from the newly formed 4-H club County Extension Agent Glenn Shirk and Pat Kauffman, Pequea R1, assisted Fisher in presenting the demonstrations and answering questions.

Good sanitation was stressed throughout the day, but especially in relation to producing good wholesome milk Shirk explained, "Goat milk is very nutritious and very complete nutritionally Therefore it is also nutritious for bacteria and supports bacteria growth very well. Sanitation is very important in producing milk whether for the family or for sale.

Shirk told the goat breeders to be sure to wash the udder before milking, "to dry the udder, dry the teats and dry your hands" He urged the breeders to sanitize utensils used in milking and to store milk in clean containers, emphasizing that the ideal temperature to store milk is 35-40 degrees Fahrenheit

Fisher recommended that a thermometer be purchased to check refrigerator temperatures Shirk noted that a ten degree increase in temperature will mean that bacteria will double, and twenty degree increase will cause bacteria to grow four fold

He added, "When milk is exposed to sunlight it becomes oxidized and will acquire a bland, flat flavor He urged the dairymen to filter the milk before cooling and to store it in the dark Kauffman pointed out that milk should be cooled in a water bath before storing in the refrigerator, because "It

PLASTISOL & SWINEX
Galvanized Expanded Metal Flooring

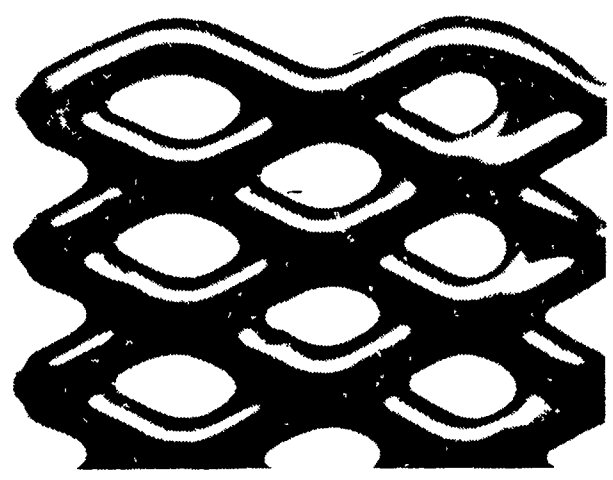
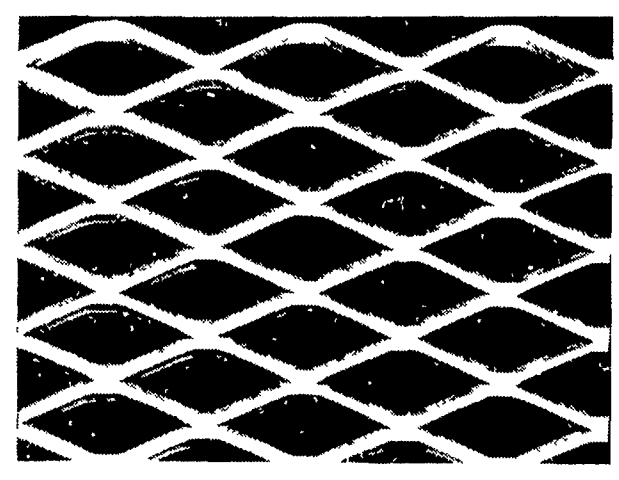
A DIVISION OF WHEELING-PITTSBURGH STEEL CORPORATION



Plastisol - ¾" #9-H
Sizes 5'x2' - 5'x5'
5'x7' - 4'x8' - 4'x10'



Swinex "A" ¾" - #8 - 4'x8' & 4'x10'
Swinex "B" ¾" - #9 - 4'x8' & 4'x10'
Swinex "C" ½" - #11 - 4'x8'

EXPANDED METAL HAS MANY ADVANTAGES OVER OTHER FLOORING SYSTEMS. FOR EXAMPLE:

- Foot problems are reduced, compared with solid concrete or concrete slat flooring
- Expanded metal "self-cleans" and stays dry better than any other flooring we've evaluated As a result, bacteria buildup is minimized, which improves conception rates and overall herd health
- Boars and sows have better footing during breeding, compared with breeding on grooved concrete floors

May milk price to be $10.93

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Dairy farmers supplying milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during May will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $10.93 per hundred pounds or 23.5 cents per quart. Market Administrator Thomas A. Wilson, who announced May's price, also stated that the uniform farm price was $10.95 per hundredweight in April 1979 and $9.55 per hundredweight in May 1978.

The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive fund (Louisville Plan) removed a total of $3,859,523.82 or $.40 per hundredweight from the dairy farmers' uniform price for May. Deductions for this fund will continue through June and will be returned in the August through November uniform price calculations.

The total amount of milk received from the 17,639 dairy farmers supplying the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area was 964,880,955 pounds during May 1979. This was more than 31.0 million pounds above last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $107,225,659.34. Wilson explained that this included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) utilized 390,820,614 pounds or 40.5 per cent of the total amount of milk for Class I. The Class I milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low-test and skim milks. For May 1979, handlers paid $12.84 per hundredweight, or 27.6 cents per quart, for the milk used in Class I products compared with $11.34 a year ago.

The balance of the milk, 59.5 per cent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream and yogurt. For this milk the handlers paid $10.55 per hundredweight.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat. For May 1979, a differential of 14.0 cents was applied to the price for each one-tenth of one per cent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

All prices quoted for bulk tank milk received within the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

"Harvestall® Chillcuring works. It's this simple: Harvestall gives me a better product for less."

MERLE STOLTZFUS, Elverson, Pa.

"We've had our 48 foot Harvestall® bin for three seasons now and I really couldn't be much happier with it. Before the Harvestall® we used a batch dryer. Now it's for sale. We found you just can't batch dry corn as cheap as you can cure it with the Harvestall®. Last year I know it didn't cost more than 4¢ a bushel for Chillcuring®. Most of the corn went in at 26% to 27%. Some was over 30%, but we had no mold problem. As a matter of fact our test weight was up around 56 lbs. Some was as high as 58 lbs.

"The farmer really needs storage if he's going to be able to market his crop to his advantage. The Harvestall® system gives him not only storage, but eliminates the need for drying equipment and expensive fuel. Plus at harvest I can fill the bin as fast as the combine brings it in.

"It's really as simple as this: Harvestall® gives me a better product at less cost. So I'm not afraid to recommend the Harvestall because it works so well for me."

The Harvestall Chillcuring System

It's simple When grain comes out of the field it's a living seed So instead of destroying the seed with high heat, moisture is removed with natural air ventilation The grain keeps all its feed value, there is less shrinkage than with heat drying because only moisture is removed, not dry matter You'll never see white dust in Chillcured corn You actually save half of what you're used to losing in heat shrink

There's no gas or oil to buy Natural air carries away heat and moisture as the corn releases it

Harvestall Chillcuring is a back-to-basics system that just simply makes good sense Find out more about it

World milk record predicted

WASHINGTON, D.C. - World Milk Production is predicted to be a record 410.2 million metric tons this year. That's up from a previous high of 401.9 million tons last year, according to a USDA report issued last week.

But while figures are compiled on 36 countries, just six account for 61 per cent of the production. They include the Soviet Union, with 97 million metric tons; the U.S. with 55.8 million; France, with 31.7 million; India, 25.7 million; West Germany, with 23.5 million; and Poland, with 18.1 million.

The report shows the Soviet Union, France and West Germany lead in butter production; the U.S., France and the Soviet Union lead in cheese output.

The Soviet's butter output, at 1.55 million metric tons, accounts for ¼ of the world total. It's also nearly three-times that of runners up France (555,000 tons) and West Germany (550,000 tons). U.S. ranks fourth in butter output with a 455,000 ton total.

But, the U.S. maintains its leadership in cheese production with a 1.7 million ton total. France is second with a 1.1 million ton output and the Soviet Union third with 750,000 tons.

IS OXYGEN CONTROLLED

*WHAT IS AN "ENERGY–PAK" OXYGEN CONTROLLED FEED STORAGE SYSTEM?

The "Energy-Pak" "Oxygen Controlled" Storage System includes a solid, steel reinforced concrete wall with a tough epoxy coating on the inside wall and a cone shaped concrete roof All access openings to the Silage Storage area are round and fitted with air-tight gaskets These round openings are easily clamped tight These features help to control and limit the amount of oxygen that comes in contact with the feed

In operating an "Energy-Pak", prime importance is placed on closing the silo after each filling and feeding operation Proper use of this system significantly reduces the oxygen content in the silo and results in a more ideal condition for maintaining the quality of the feed put into it is faster and better than in the refrigerator."

She added further that home pasteurization units could be worth the investment. "They are not expensive and last a long time. The milk will have a longer holding period and it could be a good investment for the family."

In a discussion of proper vessels for storing milk, Fisher said that glass or stainless steel are the most suitable. Aluminum and plastic are not recommended.

In purchasing goats, Shirk cautioned the breeders to practice good sanitation. "Observe where you get the goats. Use good caution. You can go direct to a breeder and you will know the herd. The goat will be under a minimum of stress and you can truck them direct to your herd. It is important to cut down on stress and the introduction of disease to your herd." He called sanitation a valuable tool in handling goats.

Kauffman added some other precautions and recommended that new animals be isolated at home for at least 10 days and be observed for signs of shipping fever and viral pneumonia. "The animal is under stress and is able to spread disease faster." She added that the stress of auctions can make an animal more susceptible in their encounter with bacterias.

In having animals tested, Kauffman suggested, "stand your ground with veterinarians and don't put the tag in the ear". Fisher noted, "A goat will tear an ear tag out of the ear. But you must have a tatto or definite marking for records."

Kauffman, who is an organizational leader for both the adult program and the newly formed 4-H club has been in the goat business for nearly eight years and has had a milking herd for one year. She is an enthusiast of goat milk, saying, "Goat milk is good tasting and has a more easily digested fat globule."

She talked about choosing goats, and the importance of strong udder attachments. "The udder attachments hold the udder up off the ground, and keeps it from being injured." She said a rear udder attachment should be high and wide and there should be no pocket in the fore udder attachment.

Kauffman said there is more of a difference in temperament between goat families than between breeds, noting, however, that Nubians are known as being independent. She added that their independence is offset by the fact that they are not as seasonal a breeder as the Swiss breeds.

In bottle feeding kids, Kauffman suggested using a lamp nipple which is thinner than a calf nipple Shirk added, "Make sure that you don't overfeed, and check the temperature of the milk on your wrist" He also said that the bottles used to feed the kids should be clean enough for humans to drink from

Fisher demonstrated the proper way to trim hooves, noting that they should be checked monthly if they are in a stable. He showed how to dehorn kids and how to clip goats recently, he acquired 300 feet of 2-inch steel pipe for the mere price of removing it himself.

The Harford County, Maryland dairy farmer doesn't just look for savings when he's shopping or building. He plans for improved profit margains by checking out tax structures and operating costs.

The unique design of Comer's new 60-cow dairy operation offers proof of Comer's emphasis on cost reductions

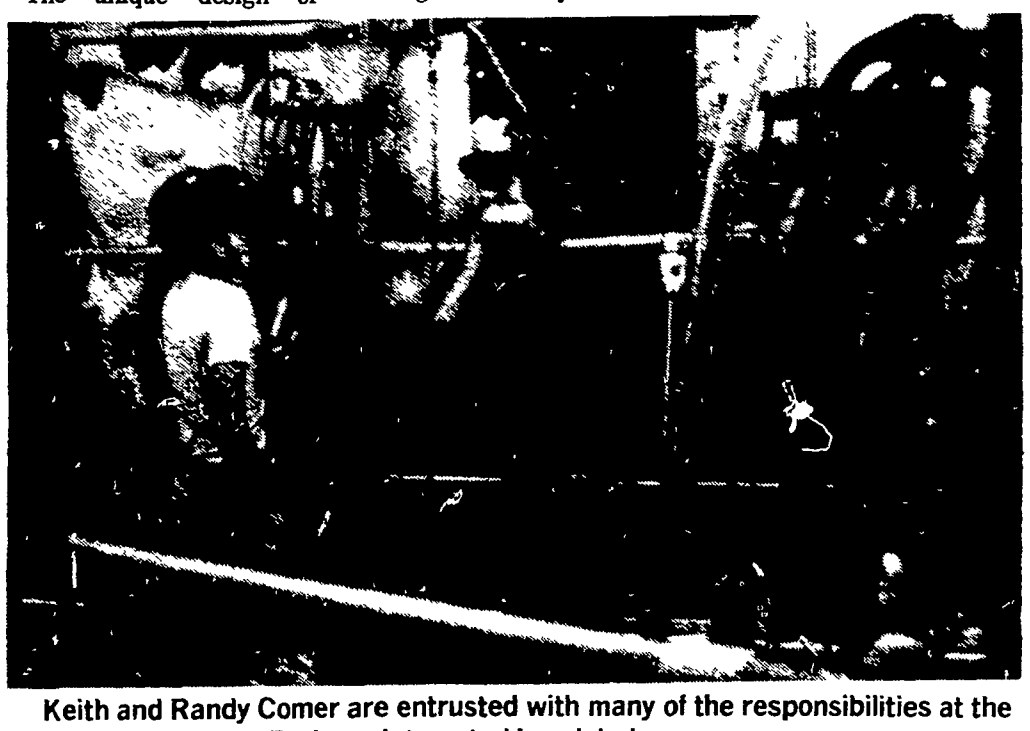
Knowing that he could only be taxed for "what's under roof," Comer built 85 free-stalls in four "mini-barns" rather than one big more conventional structure. He's delighted not only with the money he's saving, but also the way the system is functioning. Comer says he has no problems with his new set-up and efficiency has been significantly improved

The Maryland dairyman has six rows of free stalls There's a solid wall at the head end of each row, and the sides are closed off. The rear area of each row is totally open and only the stalls themselves are under roof. The alleys and walkways are exposed to sun and rain. One way of describing the system might be to say that Comer has cow hutches"

According to Comer, the system lends itself to easy cleaning He has had no problems with manure freezing in the walkways during the Winter and hard rains wash the alleys periodically. Flushed naturally by rainwaster, or scraped with a tractor blade, all of the manure is handled through a lagoon. It was built with the help of the Harford County ASCS office. They paid 80 per cent of the cost of construction.

Comer looked into the possibility of a new barn about three years ago when he discussed his expansion plans with Tom Moore, his fieldman from Maryland

(Turn to Page 37)



Keith and Randy Comer are entrusted with many of the responsibilities at the Comers' dairy farm. Both are interested in a dairying career.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Comer and daughter, Lisa, all shore in the work and fun of farming. They built their own house and dairy set-up. A visitation day is scheduled for tomorrow.

Cooperative Milk Producers, of which he is a member. The two men went to visit other farms, gleaning from each whatever ideas might be practical for what Comer had in mind. The "cow hutch" concept is what Comer finally decided upon. He designed and built it himself.

Asked if it wasn't very demanding to have to build an entire dairy operation himself while still having all the responsibilities of farming, Comer grins and lets it be known that he is happy with what he's doing. He says he got a lot of satisfaction from going out after supper to build, and preferred that to relaxation.

That is not to say, however, that Comer does not know how to live comfortably.

Comer designed and built a new house for his family, and he has a planned recreation area right on the farm.

All of the Comers are enthusiastic about sports and recreation. And they share their interests and facilities with the neighborhood. It's an understanding which has reaped priceless dividends for them. When Comer was seriously injured in two accidents, for example, adults and youths from the community helped out. The new house was built with the help of friends, says Comer.

The Harford Countian looks at his new operation with satisfaction not only because he built it himself, but because it works so well. He notes no problems and has even seen an increase in production. Sons Randy, 21; and Keith, 14; and daughter, Lisa, 17; are also pleased with it.

Energy-saving ideas played a large role in the Comers' new dairy set-up. Aside from the savings realized with the free-stall

EPA approves pesticides for control of beetle

By KENDACE BORRY

UNIVERSITY PARK — Potato growers in Pennsylvania are getting some help in their fight against the potato beetle.

The Environmental Protection Agency has granted a specific exemption under the provisions of section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act, as amended, to the Pennsylvania Dept. of Agriculture for the use of Pemethrin and Fenvalerate to control Colorado potato beetles on potatoes in the state.

According to Dr. Winand K. Hock, Extension pesticides specialist, in the eastern one-third of the state, the Colorado potato beetle seems to tolerate the many pesticides that are normally used against it. The same problem is found in N.J., eastern Va., and Long Island. Hock isn't quite sure why this is so, but stated that the problem is definitely there.

These new materials which have been approved for use, with the restrictions issued by the EPA, Hock, explained, are hoped to knock down the pest.

"These products won't last long, they don't have a long residual." he explained.

He further added that he didn't know how the potato yield and quality would be affected by the pesticides.

This specific exemption is subject to the following restrictions:

The products Ambush, manufactured by ICI; Pounce, manufactured by FMC; and Pydrin, manufactured by Shell may be applied.

These pesticides may be applied at the rate of 0.1 to 0.2 pound active ingredients per acre.

A maximum of six applications of permethrin or fenvalerate may be applied. No fields may be treated with both fenvalerate and permethrin. A pre-harvest interval of seven days is required.

A maximum of 15,000 acres in the state may be treated. And the applications will be made with air or ground equipment.

The spray mixture volumes of 40 to 100 gallons of water will be applied by ground equipment, five to 10 gallons by aircraft.

Applications will be made by state-certified private or commercial applicators or persons under direct supervision of a state certified applicator.

Ambush, Pounce, and Pydrin are toxic to fish, birds and other wildlife. They are to be kept out of any body of water. They are not to be applied where runoff is likely to occur or when weather conditions favor the drift from areas treated. One is not to contaminate water by the cleaning of equipment or the disposal of wastes.

In order to mimimize spray drift, three restrictions will be observed for applications of permethrin and fenvalerate.

Aerial applications will not be made when the wind speed exceeds five miles per hour. A buffer zone of 200 feet (horizontal) between treated area and quatic areas will be observed. Aerial applications should be staggered in time in areas where fish and shellfish are important resources.

These pesticides are highly toxic to bees exposed to direct treatment or to residues on crops or weeds. They should not be applied or allowed to drift to weeds in bloom when an economically significant number of bees are actively foraging.

Potatoes that are treated with these pesticides will not have residues of permethrin in excess of 0.1 ppm or residues of fenvalerate in excess of 0.2 ppm.

A sixty day crop rotation restriction is imposed. And this specific exemption expires on September 30, 1979.

Wool pool grosses $62,500

CARLISLE — The Cumberland County Wool Pool which was combined for the first time this year with Franklin County, was held this week, with 535 poolers bringing their wool to be sold to Burlington Industries, Clarksville, Va.

There were 57,465 pounds of medium wool reported with 1955 pounds of clothing, 8165 medium wool rejects, (due to dirty wool, black fibers, weak fibers, or wool being tied with something other than paper twine, among other reasons), 266 pounds of low quarter, 842 pounds of fine, and 159 pounds of tags. Total wool receipts stood at 68,854 pounds.

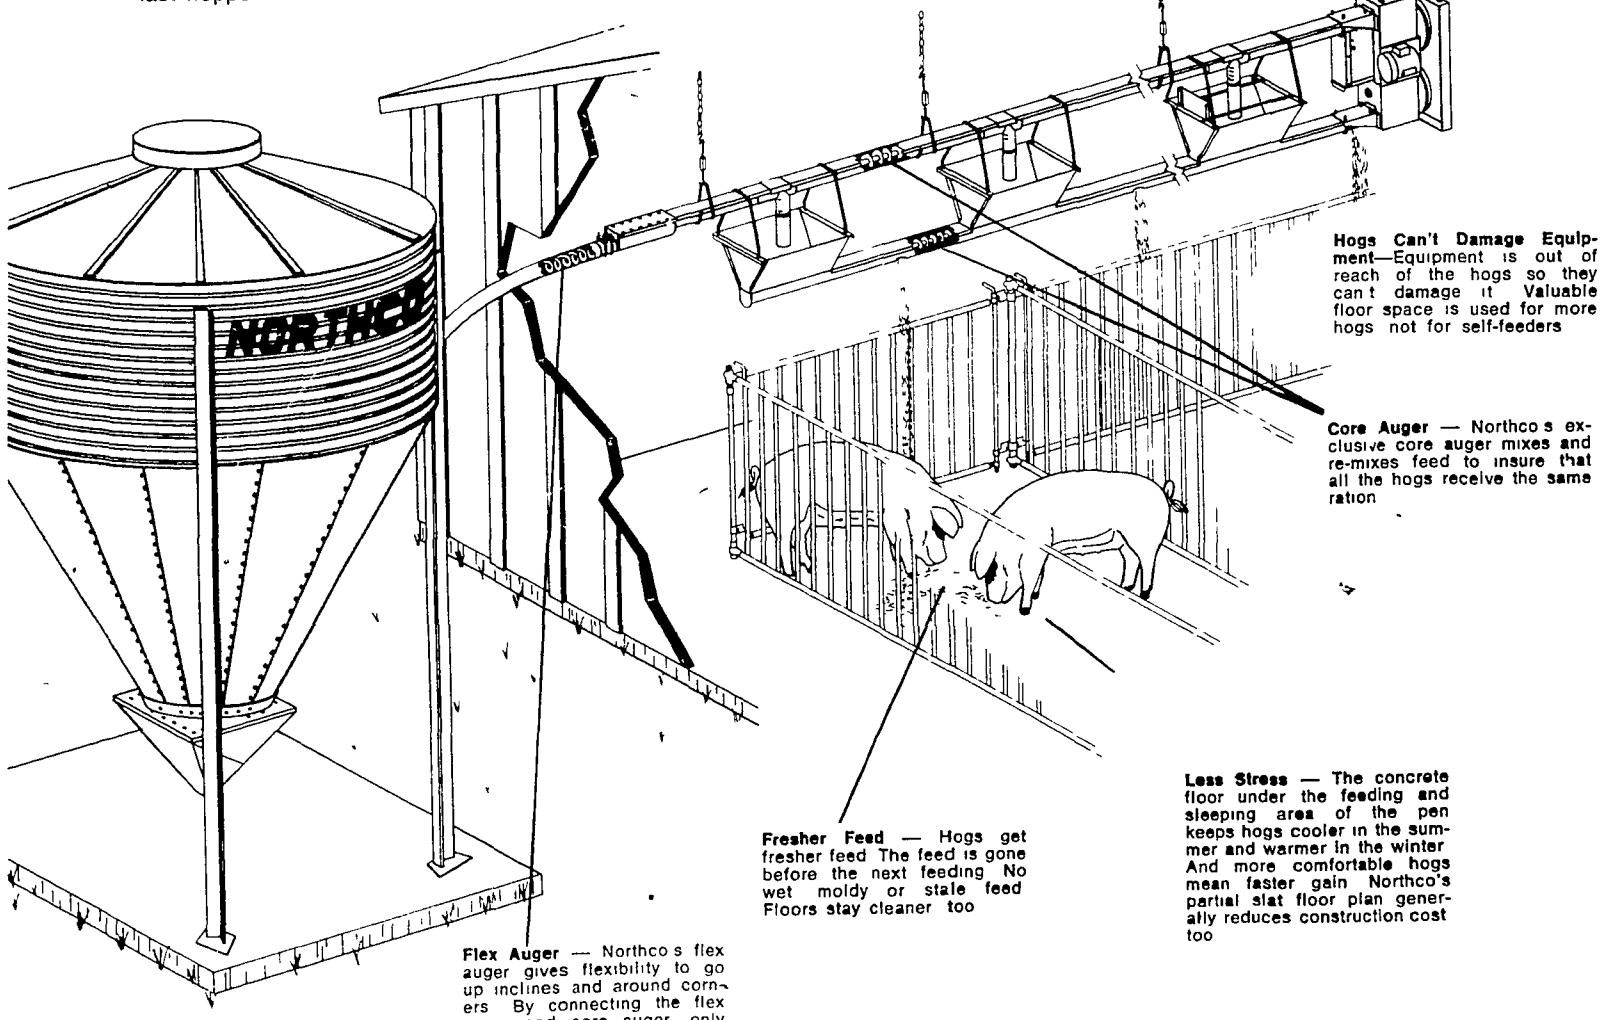
According to County Agent Duane Duncan, a gross value of $62,500 was put on the wool, and four tractor trailer trucks were needed to haul the wool.

Last year, the Franklin and Cumberland County wool pools, which were held separately, had a total of 63,885 pounds of wool.

FLOOR FEEDING SYSTEM
Complete Control With Two Adjustments:

1. HOPPER ADJUSTMENT
The amount of feed given to each pen at one time is regulated by simply raising or lowering the drop spout in each hopper Hogs are given just the amount of feed they will clean up The top auger is activated by a feed-level switch in the last hopper

2. TIME CLOCK ADJUSTMENT
The time clock activates the bottom auger to drop a measured amount of feed on the floor of each pen. Hogs are fed 8, 10 or 12 times a day. The more frequently hogs are fed the more they will eat and the faster they will gain



Hogs Can't Damage Equipment—Equipment is out of reach of the hogs so they can't damage it Valuable floor space is used for more hogs not for self-feeders

Core Auger — Northco's exclusive core auger mixes and re-mixes feed to insure that all the hogs receive the same ration

Fresher Feed — Hogs get fresher feed The feed is gone before the next feeding No wet moldy or stale feed Floors stay cleaner too

Less Stress — The concrete floor under the feeding and sleeping area of the pen keeps hogs cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter And more comfortable hogs mean faster gain Northco's partial slat floor plan generally reduces construction cost too

Flex Auger — Northco's flex auger gives flexibility to go up inclines and around corners By connecting the flex auger and core auger only one motor is needed to move feed from the bin to the feeder hoppers

Temporary half-gallon gas pricing proposed

HARRISBURG - State Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell recently said that the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures has proposed temporary regulations which would allow gasoline station owners to price their gasoline and diesel fuel on a half-gallon basis under certain circumstances.

The Department will be inviting written comments and suggestions to the proposed regulations, Hallowell said.

Hallowell stated that a change in regulations has become necessary because "most of the gasoline pumps in the Commonwealth are set to register a maximum of 99 9 cents per gallon"

"With gasoline prices rapidly approaching the $1 per gallon mark, we are forced to take steps to insure that the public can see what they are getting for their money," he added.

The proposed regulations would provide that when the price of gasoline in any one pump at a service station reaches $1 per gallon, that all pumps carry indications that the prices are "½ total price," and list the price by half-gallon, as well as the full gallon price. Under the proposed regulations, notice would be made on the pumps that receipts would be available to the customer upon request

Hallowell noted that the proposed regulations have been by the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) The NBS has suggested the half-pricing method as a means to provide temporary relief to the immediate problem posed by $1-a-gallon gasoline in a uniform, practical manner.

He said that the situation with gasoline pricing today is similar to that faced in 1973 and 1974, when prices reached 50 cents per gallon at a time that many dispensers were set at 49 9 cents maximum Half-pricing was adopted as a short-term plan at that time and proved cost-effective and workable.

structures themselves, there are also benefits from equipment such as the unit which uses the compressor's heat to make hot water.

The sloping alleys around the free-stalls facilitate good run-off and easier cleaning. The alleys are 60 feet long and slope a foot each way from the center. All of the drainage is eventually directed to the lagoon. It measures about 100 foot square and has a 14-foot depth at its deepest point. According to Comer he can store manure in it for over a year.

The recipient of the FFA American Farmer Degree in 1957, Comer also has a streamlined feeding system. He works only with trench silos and a home-made ration supplemented with a commercial protein mix. He has his own grain bins, drying facilities, and an automatic scale which helps him in formulating rations.

All in all, Comer says his new system has improved efficiency in more ways than one. They milk faster, produce more, have lower bedding costs, and more convenient manure handling. Also, water is more readily available for the cows.

Comer is president of the Harford County Farm Bureau and is involved in numerous other professional and civic organizations.

Tomorrow (Sunday, June 23) the family will host interested persons for a Farm Visitation Day.

IMPROVING EFFICIENCY OF AIR CONDITIONERS

Just a few years ago, if a room air conditioner did its job of blowing out cool air, consumers paid little attention to it.

However, with increasing electrical costs, it now pays to spend some time helping that room air conditioner do its job as efficiently as possible.

To get the most from a room air conditioner, be sure that the air flow of the unit is not blocked by draperies or furniture. Air flow on the outside is important too, so make sure that shrubs and bushes are kept trimmed away from the unit.

Take the air filter out and clean it about once a month. Its job is to screen out larger particles and airborne dust. dirt and pollen, so it should be periodically vacuumed or washed so it can perform its job efficiently.

Some brands of air conditioners need annual fan motor oiling and drain tube cleaning. If you're not certain about the instructions for your room air conditioner, check the owner's manual to see what is recommended.

Keep hot air outside and cool air inside. For example, weather seal around the air conditioner, use blinds or awnings on windows in direct sunlight or close drapes on those windows without air conditioners. Close fireplace flues and seal heating ducts so cool air will not be lost through open registers.

The working family may want to invest in an automatic timer. This will turn the air conditioner off in the morning and back on late in the afternoon so the house will be comfortable when the family returns home.

Not all appliance timers, however, work with all room air conditioners. Be sure the timer you buy will handle the electrical requirements of your air conditioner.

One of the best ways to save money with a room air conditioner is to set the thermostat a few degrees higher than in past years. A thermostat setting of 78 degrees or above is recommended. You'll still have a cooler, more comfortable living area, and for every degree of cooling given up, you'll save about 5 per cent on energy.

If you're adding an air conditioner or replacing an old one, consider one with a high-effeciency ratio (EER). This may cost a bit more initially, but will operate for less cost than a unit of comparable capacity with a lower ratio. When you shop remember this simple fact: The higher the EER, the less the unit costs to run.

ENCOURAGE FAMILY MEMBERS IN FOOD PREPARATION

Looking for a challenging activity for vacationing children and teens? May I suggest you encourage family members to become proficient in fixing meals at home.

The long summer vacation for young teens and older children is a good time to focus on basic meal preparation skills. It is good training for them and gives the working or the stay-at-home mother a vacation, too.

A major frustration for many beginning cooks is getting the various foods that make up a meal ready to serve at the same time. An experienced cook can plan, shop, prepare and serve by habit. The beginner needs some help to get the same result.

First, help the novice with the menu, using the cook's suggestions on what to serve. Help draft a shopping list. Next, suggest setting a schedule for preparing and cooking the different foods, so that the first attempts at meal preparation aren't too hectic and the chances of success are great.

Mothers can also assume the role of "second-cook" by following the cook's directions while being at hand to answer questions.

As the novice meal planners become more experienced, Mother's help may be limited to:

*Listing the dishes in the agreed-upon menu and the necessary tasks, such as table setting and kitchen clean-up.

*Noting the total time required for preparation. Cooking times can be deceiving if a lot of chopping, grinding or other preparation are necessary.

*Putting the dish that takes the longest to cook at the top of the list. By starting with it, kids can be encouraged to work on other tasks once it is cooking.

*Indicating appliances, pots or casseroles to use. A lesson on operating the blender, food processor, crock-pot and even the electric can opener will add to the success of the meal and the efficiency of its preparation.

Chick embryo shows pollution effects

UNIVERSITY PARK - Studies conducted at The Pennsylvania State University using the embryo as a model in demonstration-research for 4-H members show it to be a responsive and rugged tool in showing effects of pollution on the living organism.

A window was cut into the air cell of an incubating egg at three to five days of age. With careful management it was kept alive until hatching. During this time, the heartrate, flexus and general swimming behavior of the embryo was examined and observed. The movement and behavior of the embryo was observed as it related to light, temperature and time of day.

On another occasion one of three groups of 10 embryo-eggs were subjected to a bag filled with cigarette smoke for 13 and 43 minutes per day on two tests. The embryo showed the effect of the smoke during incubation by flexing and exercising more rapidly to overcome the invading smoke. Upon hatching chicks under the heavy smoke treatment showed physical problems with their navels, hatching abnormalities, higher mortality, down problems and leg weakness problems.

The embryo should be used more as a model in life-systems research because it is the epitome of life responding to pollutants more rapidly and more clearly than larger or older animals.

The embryo is used in 50 schools in Pennsylvania where 5,000 4-H members study how fragile young life is. The embryo represents youth or childhood in that it will adapt if given a chance but cannot accept violent changes in environment

Strawberry grower is a dairy farm enthusiast

LITITZ — Gleen Shenk, or "Buddy" as he is known to his friends, has long been known as the man to beat at the Lancaster County strawberry Roundup. A veteran showman of six years, he has been named champion at that event three times.

A senior at Manheim Central, the seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shenk, Sr., Lititz R2; the youth stated that he became interested in strawberries because his mother was looking for someone to help her work in the family patch.

"One of the 4-H leaders told her to get one of the children involved in raising strawberries, and they'll do the work," he smiled. "So I began the project and have been raising berries ever since."

But for Buddy, who lives on a dairy farm, strawberries are just one of the many activities that claim his time.

He also participates in dairy 4-H, where he has a dairy cow, heifer, and calf project, and is game leader of the club. He and his brother raise capons and they had the champion bird at the roundup of that club last year.

He is president of his FFA chapter, and takes such projects as dairy cow, alfalfa, and work experience. He is also sentinel of the Red Rose County FFA chapter.

Buddy Shenk, three time champion at the Lancaster County 4-H strawberry roundup, not only spends his time working in his patch, but also enjoys working with the family's herd of Holsteins.

In his FFA, he has been named the Star Chapter Farmer, and won the Star Red Rose Degree. His project books have also won gold awards at state level.

But getting back to his strawberries, Buddy claimed that in raising strawberries, a lot depends on the weather.

"I like plenty of rain and sunshine, you need both," he explained. "And the rain this year just didn't help the crop." But despite that he was picking 35 to 40 quarts a day from his patch last week. He exp-ected his strawberries to end this week.

Buddy placed third this year in the county roundup.

He told that he also likes to work with the cattle, likes the experience of working around dairy animals.

His family owns 67 Holsteins, and he related that he milks them every morning, besides doing general farm work.

Looking to his future, he hopes someday to be working with a job that is associated with farming. He already owns two cows.

He'd like to work on improving cattle genetically, as that aspect of farming interests him greatly.

But right now he keeps himself busy on the farm between all his projects and responsibilities, for if he isn't down working in the strawberry patch, he's probably up in the barn, or down in the field, or somewhere doing something farm oriented.

Hearing Loss Is Not A Sign Of Old Age

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike... and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 8270, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Carter's oil decontrol efforts praised

PARK RIDGE, Ill. - President Carter's effort to improve energy production through decontrol of the price of crude oil has been praised by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"Farm Bureau members thank you for your leadership in the effort to decontrol the price of crude oil," Allan Grant, federation president, wrote Carter.

In his letter, Grant said that farm and ranch members of the three million family organization have long sought deregulation of both natural gas and crude oil prices.

The organization has contended that marketplace pressures which normally regulate supply and demand to the consumer's benefit have been bypassed since 1954 when the federal government began fixing the price of natural gas; and 1971, when crude oil and refined petroleum products also were placed under government price-fixing authority.

Farm Bureau believes that "great damage" has been done to domestic petroleum production by the creation of artificial prices and insulation of the industry from the incentives of normal market forces.

In his letter to Carter, Grant wrote, "prices of energy supplies should be allowed to move freely in response to supply and demand, except in national emergencies or where public utilities are controlled by regulatory agencies.

"This will encourage both the development of adequate energy supplies and their distribution on an equitable basis."

Lancaster Co. 4-H'ers to attend leadership conference

LANCASTER - Thirty-one Lancaster County 4-H members will learn specialized leadership skills when they take part in Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, June 25-28, on The Pennsylvania State University's main campus.

The County delegation will join with about 1000 other 4-H members from all counties in the Commonwealth to share and contribute ideas which will improve local community programs.

At Leadership Congress, they will take part in assemblies, discussion and interest groups, and recreational activities.

This year's conference will include six different programs of leadership orientation and development. A Leadership School for 15-17-year-olds; a Leadership Council for 18-19-year-olds; a State Leaders Forum for adult leaders; delegate workshop for 13-15-year-olds; street camping training; and 4-H reporters training are aspects of the program.

Selected teen leaders will attend a special school designed to increase skills to work effectively in planning and conducting county youth programs. Topics will include communications skills, understanding social concerns and group processes, and recreation.

Leaders and Extension staff members will meet with College of Agriculture officials and participate in educational workshops involving the understanding of leadership principles, working with groups, communications, and subject matter related to selected 4-H projects.

County 4-H reporters will take part in communications training to promote the 4-H program at county, regional, and state levels.

Also scheduled during Congress will be a street camping leadership program. Youths between the ages of 14 and 17 will be involved in this educational experience which will assist them in organizing similar day camp programs in local communities. Deb Enders of Mountville has been selected as one of the teen advisors for the street camp program.

Other county 4-H members Martha Gregory of Lititz, and Jay Stauffer of Lancaster, have been named to serve as Leadership Council Advisors Martha and Jay will supervise program activities along with 59 other selected 4-H members from throughout the state.

Leadership Council delegates will arrive on the Penn State Campus, June 22 for three days of counseling and orientation to prepare them for their duties the remainder of the week

Highlights of the four-day conference will include Denny and Lee, a magic act, and "We the People," a group of five young people presenting a unique combination of voice, guitar, banjo, bass, autoharp, and percussion

Deborah Sunday named Berks dairy princess

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

WYOMISSING - Beaming with joy, excitement, and surprise, Deborah E. Sunday, 17, of Lenhartsville R1, was chosen as Berks County's 1979 Dairy Princess. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Sunday, Deborah was crowned Saturday evening during the Berks County Dairy Princess Coronation Banquet, held at the Sheraton Berkshire Inn, Wyomissing.

Deborah succeeds Teresa Wolfskills of Robesonia R1, to the coveted title sought this year by eight other very worthy contestants. Chosen as alternate princess was Carol Hartman, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Hartman, Hamburg R2.

Both young ladies are recent graduates of Hamburg Area High School. Deborah is presently enrolled as an incoming freshman at Millersville State College where she plans to study Educational Media. Asked about her plans as Dairy Princess, the five foot two inch, brown eyed Princess exclaimed that she is just looking forward to a lot of hard work. Then added that she plans to focus her attention on youth during her one year reign.

"I believe education towards our dairy products should start with younger children," she said. "Then they pass their knowledge and desires for our products on to their parents and peers."

Raised on her parents farm with four other sisters, Deborah wants to pursue a career of her own before settling down on a farm, which she hopes to do in the future. This brunette teen first hopes to become a Law Librarian.

Always involved in many activities, Deborah enjoys meeting and working with people. She has been in a Church Youth Group, Girl Scout Leader, Student Council, Berks County Student Forum, Student Advisory Board, National Honor Society, Yearbook Staff, Wilderness Club, Cheerleading, chorus, school musicals, and library club where she held the office of president.

Deborah's interests include tennis and reading and she is currently employed at Kuzan's Hardware Store, Shoemakersville. Her family farms approximately 800 acres and milks 45 cows. Her sisters are: Patti, 21, Dorothy, 19; Beth, 16; and Jennifer, 7

As the 1979 Alternate Berks County Dairy Princess, Carol Hartman, will also take part in many activities and public appearances throughout the county.

Carol is five foot, blue eyed, with light brown hair. She is employed on her parents farm where her primary duties include feeding and milking the fifty cow herd.

Other then working with livestock, Carol enjoys

Twilight meeting hosted by Brownvalley

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

LITTLESTOWN - Approximately 80 people attended the annual Adams County Holstein Twilight meeting held last Thursday at Brownvalley Holsteins, Littlestown R3, with partners Marvin E. and Timothy C. Brown hosting.

Brad Heinzman, classifier for the Holstein Friesian Asssociation served as official judge for a judging contest and explained the breakdown on classification scores Heinzman said that general appearance and udder account for thirty per cent each and dairy character and body capacity account for twenty per cent each

Heinzman encouraged Adams County breeders to participate in the classification program, noting that "it is essential to do it in this day and age It may take a couple of times before you realize anything out of it, but you can make a bundle on the score."

Classification is the most popular and most successful program sponsored by the Association, according to Heinzman. "Sometimes people say they aren't ready to classify, but I have never seen anyone who wasn't ready. The final score can be used in merchandising."

He urged dairymen to use the information they get in their breeding program and to study the codes in breed books to their advantage. "The more information we get the more accurate we will be and the more reliable we will be. That is reason enough to classify. Classification is a fact of life today."

County Extension Director Thomas Piper welcomed the many young people in attendance. He complimented the Browns for getting started at a "tough time," saying, "Times are tough and probably will be for a while, but young people will be tested by the challenge and will rise to the challenge. Remember that we are producing consumers as fast as we are producing milk."

He encouraged the youth, "Don't lose faith in agriculture, but take pride in agriculture. There is a lot of work to be done."

Piper urged dairymen to have their forages analyzed since much hay being made this year is not as good as last year.

In the judging contest, a brother-sister combination walked off with winning honors. Eleven-year-old Jennifer Weimer, New Oxford R2, was winner in the youth category and her 22-year-old brother Michael won in the adult category. Michael participated on the Maryland collegiate judging team, but said, "I didn't tell her how to place them."

Tim Brown told the dairymen that they are milking about 75 cows, raise their own herd replacements and sell considerable breeding stock, many of which go for 4-H project animals.

According to Marvin, the rolling herd average is 15,847 pounds of milk, 618 fat and 3.9 test. He emphasized that any animal in the herd can be bought. The herd classification that day on 71 cows and one bull included 14 VG, 36 GP, 19 G and 3 F, with an 81.5 average. Both partners recognized the help of their father, Wade H., in helping them get a start in the dairy industry.

The Browns farm about 175 acres of corn, 35 acres of mixed hay, 35 acres of alfalfa, and wheat for straw. They will raise soybeans for the first time this year. The first cutting of alfalfa goes in the silo and barley is used in the silo.

Refreshments were provided by Solengerger Silo Company and Muenzenmeyer's Construction Co.

3) You can really shake up Summer tastes by serving cheesy garlic bread heated over the coals with whatever meal you're planning. Garlic butter is made by creaming one-half cup, or one stick of butter with a crushed garlic clove. If you're slicing long French bread or Vienna Bread, butter it first, then insert American process cheese slices. Wrap the bread in foil, then heat for 15 to 20 minutes.

Lanc. Co. 4-H agent leaves post

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

LANCASTER - "It's been a real satisfying kind of a job." Linda Franz was spending her last day in her office at the Farm and Home Center, where for the past four years she has been an Extension 4-H Agent, responsible for the County's 4-H programs. She was much too busy sorting out her personal belongings to be sad, but she reflected on her work as she prepared to leave.

"It's been a really good experience for me. I've learned a lot on the job," she mused. "The best part was getting to meet all the leaders and parents. It is a really nice group of people."

Linda is relocating in Camp Hill because her husband, Bill, a hydraulic engineer, has accepted a position with Gannett, Flemming, Corddry and Carpenter, engineers and planners. She said, "I will probably end up being a volunteer leader some day."

She feels the strength of the 4-H program is to develop self-confidence. "A lot of kids don't have responsibility at home and they don't know what they can do. This is the only program where they can learn by doing something they are interested in. It provides an opportunity for the youngsters to carry the projects through to completion.

In Lancaster County, there are over 2200 4-H'ers, 66 4-H clubs and 325 volunteer leaders, so she finds it difficult to generalize about the program. "Clubs differ and while there are some general things, we pretty much leave it up to the leaders. There are very few regulations, and programs are decided by individual clubs.

She called 4-H "adaptable, as far as projects go." She explained that there are some projects for which there is no printed material. Cake decorating has become increasingly popular and is carried out without a project book. "There are a lot more craft projects now than when I started. They are really popular and leaders just teach crafts they can do."

One innovation during her term is a newsletter sent to leaders and members. "It helps people know more about 4-H and its activities." For the first time the 4-H County Council participated in the LARC Bike Hike and earned $250.

A day camp at Lancaster County Park was initiated by Linda. Now in its third year, it reaches nearly 75 4-H'ers, thirteen year old and under. There are craft activities, and a walk around the physical fitness trail for those attending.

While the Extension Service budget is still frozen and a replacement cannot be named until that changes, the 4-H work will continue. Nancy Meyers, a 4-H agent hired through the Comprehensive Employment Training Act, and Michelle Skiles, a Summer CETA worker, will take on the major share of the work. Kim Martin, will work with the Expanded Foods and Nutrition Education Program and its 4-H branch.

Linda first came to Lancaster County 10 years ago as a volunteer in the Volunteers in Service to America program. She was first hired at the Extension office as a CETA employee, after six months funding became available through the University. A native of Fillmore, N.Y., Linda received a degree in secondary education from the State University College at Buffalo

Some of Linda Franz's time as 4-H agent was spent on the phone answering questions on the 4-H program.

sewing and cooking. She has been very active in 4-H and Church functions. This young lady has served as president of her Church Youth Group, and news reporter for Berks County 4-H Council. Carol is a member of the Tilden 4-H Community Club.

She has one brother, Bruce, 20 and a sister, JoAnn, 23.

In her farewell remarks, 1978 Dairy Princess, Teresa Wolfskill thanked the Berks County dairy industry for allowing her the opportunity to have such a wonderful experience.

"I regret to give it up," Teresa stated with deep sincerity. "But it has been a good prelude to the life I'm going to live," she added.

Teresa will be married June 23 and will help operate her fiance's dairy farm. "Be thankful for your great product - milk," she told the 173 dairymen present, "it's the best product produced."

Other contestants were: Cheryl Adam, Hamburg R2; Melissa Clay, Bernville R2; Annette and Janelle Hetrick, Limekiln; Nancy Latshaw, Alburtis R1; Dorothy Sunday, Lenhartsville R1; and Debra Troutman, Myerstown R1.

Members of the Dairy Princess Pageant Committe are: Mary Kirkhoff, Chairlady, Marilyn Althouse, Caroll Kopfer, Gail Malsbury, Vernette Meyers, and Leon Kirkhoff. Md. forage farm field day set CLARKSVILLE, Md. - Dairy-oriented families should mark July 26 on their calendars as the date for the 1979 University of Maryland forage research farm family day near Clarksville (Howard County).

Adding a bovine welcome for this year's eleventh statewide forage crops and dairy cattle management outing will be eight Holstein calves resulting from an embryo transfer demonstration at last year's field day.

The calves were born to eight heifers made "pregnant" with live embryos from two donor cows.

Last year's embryo transfer demonstration generated so much interest that it is being repeated again this year, according to Dr Lester R Vough, field day coordinator Dr. Vough is Extension forage crops specialist and an associate professor of agronomy at the University of Maryland in College Park.

He reports that the three-hour embryo transfer demonstration in barn No. 4 will be one of six stops on the morning wagon tour schedule at the University of Maryland's agronomy-dairy forage research farm.

Other wagon-tour stops will include a chance to see three outdoor field plots where crop research trials are under way and two indoor stops in the dairy barns area to hear reports on current animal research.

Being tried for the first time is a walking tour schedule to supplement the wagon tours. It will allow a first-hand look at three crop research plots not included on the wagon tour.

Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller, will be on hand to present length-of-service awards to several University of Maryland agronomy-dairy research farm employees during the noon lunch break.

Field machinery exhibits and demonstrations will wind up the day's activities on the afternoon program. These will include no-till seeding of alfalfa into barley stubble, utilizing sod-seeders from several leading manufacturers.

There will also be a demonstration of power take-off dynamometer performance tests patterned after the famous Nebraska tractor tests.

Milk, coffee and doughnuts will be on sale throughout the morning; a catered roast beef lunch will be sold at noon.

Commercial and educational displays will be on view throughout the day in the realm of dairy reproduction research, animal nutrition, farm safety, field machinery, and forage quality and utilization.

Other all-day features will include demonstrations on hoof trimming and homemade ice cream-making. And a team fitting and showing contest with dairy heifers is again scheduled. This contest is open to 4-H members and other interested youth.

The field day site is located three miles northeast of Clarksville in central Howard County. The street address is 4234 Folly Quarter Road, Ellicott City.

GOT TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH AND PRESSURE PLATE PROBLEMS WITH YOUR IH TRACTORS?

There is a company in the West that has been rebuilding T.A. units for several years now and having excellent results. The basic reason for their success is the sprag clutch they use. In the areas where they have been selling, they even have IH dealers that use this unit almost entirely.

(1) They feel this sprag clutch is giving less problems than even IH's new beefed up unit because of the design of the sprags.

(2) This unit can be bought as individual parts which is many times all you need or as a complete renewed unit ready to set in your tractor.

(3) They have a warranty up to 2000 hrs., or 3 years . . . and . . .

(4) They don't cost any more and to most buyers they are costing less than from the big company. They offer same day shipment by UPS or Greyhound bus. They also have a program on rebuilt Dynalife clutches and pressure plates.

If you want more information write me and I will get the literature to you. Raymond B. Leaman, RD #1, Willow Street, Penna. 17584.

AGRI-KING
KEY TO PROFIT

June is dairy month

6 YEARS WITH AGRI-KING

June is dairy month

Has Shown Profitable Results for the Marbet Farms Dairy Herd of Lebanon County

CLYDE MEYER

As we were starting the Agri-King feeding program in March 1973 I was scared because I didn't want our cows records to drop. I thought our cows were milking as good as they could, because they aren't all purebred and dad hadn't bought the highest priced cows to start with We were averaging over 15,000 lbs milk and over 550 lbs fat on more than 80 cows However dad persisted in staying on the program, because he thought the idea of keeping things in balance was the way to go

We kept saying it was costing too much until Mother and I checked things out for ourselves and saw the price of feed and vet bills were not going up and the cows were doing better at the end of this summer than they had in previous summers

Since we are using Silo King and getting top quality hay and silage I can see a big difference in the way the cows eat The biggest change I see in the whole thing is the way the first calf heifers milk and keep on milking It's hard to believe the way they are peaking and holding production.

I'm sure all these results come from taking good care of the dry cow, feeding her a balanced ration, and taking good care of the calf through every stage of its life (Birth to 300 lbs 300 lbs to 600 lbs 600 lbs to breeding age and breeding age to freshening age)

MR. MARVIN MEYER

I went to an Agri-King meeting in March 1973 I thought the whole program made good common sense - testing your feed and balancing the ration according to your cows and milk production We had had fairly good production since 1966 We had been over 14,000 lbs milk and over 525 lbs butterfat since that year, but along with the high production we had a lot of herd health problems.

Since we've been on Agri-King our vet bills are lower and our milk production has been going up each year We are really happy with the way our cows are performing

Clyde Meyer

JIM MEYER

I do all the feeding and when we first started the Agri-King program it took me a little longer to do the feeding I thought this was a big waste of time, but now it doesn't take me any longer to feed the cows that it did before It's enjoyable feeding and caring for cows that are averaging over 19,000 lbs of milk and over 700 lbs of fat

Jim Meyer

MRS. MARVIN MEYER

I was asked what I thought of the Agri-King feeding program when we started in 1973 I had to admit that I was not for Agri-King — I thought it was just another gimmick All I saw was another bill from Agri-King each month and it didn't look like we got much for it I kept after Marvin all spring and summer about the program costing too much "How are we going to pay all these bills?" I would ask him About three fourths of the way through the summer Marvin said "Betty, sit down and figure the costs for yourself I don't think it costs as much as you think " So we sat down and went over the records comparing them with the two previous years We looked at the vet bills, the feed bills and the way the cows were holding production thus far through the summer This is when I decided that maybe Marvin didn't make the wrong decision after all

Now I'm surely glad we're using the Agri-King Feeding program The boys and I do the milking and it's a pleasure to milk cows that give a lot of milk and do not cause a lot of problems

WHAT IS THE SECRET IN OBTAINING THIS KIND OF SUCCESS?

You need good breeding, feeding and management.

Artificial breeding has helped us to obtain quality cows. Now it is up to us to get these cows to reach their potential with proper feeding and management.

First we must realize that the milk the cow produces comes from one of two places - the feed she eats or her body reserves.

We at Agri-King want to supply as much as possible in the feed so your high producing cows stay in the herd longer. These are the cows that make the most profit and also give us the best herd replacements.

But remember your roughage is what makes the difference (hay, silage and grain). We must get the feed tag on your hay mow, your silo and your grain bin. Testing for protein, calcium and phosphorus, magnesium, nitrates, heat damage, fiber and moisture must be done, not once or twice a year, but monthly to keep up with the roughage changes. The changes in your roughages make a big difference when feeding high producers. The higher your level of production the more accurate you need to be if you want to maintain herd health along with milk production.

Chester County Dairy Princess

Nadine Prange looks forward to her reign

By SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff Writer

Having had less than a month's experience, Nadine Prange, Chester County's 1979 Dairy Princess, finds promoting milk as natural as the product itself. She says she is not the least bit timid about speaking to the public and she welcomes the opportunities in this next year to do just that.

Nadine is the daughter of Harace and Laura Prange and lives with them on their dairy farm in Upper Oxford Township when she is not away at school at Mansfield State College. She is a junior majoring in home economics education. While the school is a rural one and Nadine finds that her farming background is not unusual from most of her classmates, she has had many chances to promote milk during her classes.

One specific assignment Nadine completed for a speech class dealt with drinking milk for its nutritional benefits and another presentation given to her Food For the Family Class was entitled "Comparative Milk Marketing Study."

Nadine gets her facts from her courses in nutrition at college and from her lifelong experiences as a dairy farmer's daughter. Add to that, her older sister, Bernice, was a dairy princess several years ago. Nadine proudly points out that no less than seven Oxford High School girls have won the pageants or placed as runners-up in the Chester County competition.

Nadine graduated from Oxford in 1977 where she was involved in the concert and marching bands, the mixed senior chorus, school musicals and served as a teacher's aide. In addition she was active during her high school years in 4-H with sewing and cooking her areas of emphasis.

Now that she has been in college, she finds herself once again practicing with the marching band, working in the theater workshop and contributing to the campus 4-H programs which assist local clubs and state-wide 4-H programs.

Her sewing expertise has brought her before large crowds at regional and state level competitions in recent years and she credits these earlier experiences with making her public appearances as a dairy princess fun for her.

Nadine Prange, Chester County Dairy Princess, tells how good milk is for youngsters, with the help of her puppet cow Daisy in the crystal ball.

Homestead Notes

She looks forward to a busy year as the county princess and has already made several appearances in schools and at local dairy suppers in the county. "I will be glad to come to any group that asks me and while I am away at school this Winter, our county alternate, Patty Jenkins will appear," she explained.

During the county pageant held June 2 at Kimberton Firehall, Nadine had to present a short commercial or milk promotional presentation. Nadine presented "The Cow and the Crystalball." An original presentation, she used a cardtable with a hole cut in it so that she could create a puppet cow appearing inside a fishbowl. Geared to the younger audiences, Nadine's "Daisy," the cow, asked the children what they know about milk and then explains the many benefits they can get from drinking their daily requirements of dairy products.

Shortly after being selected as the new county dairy princess Nadine took Daisy and her crystalball to kindergarten classes in the Oxford School District. She recalled that the children really like the "mysterious" appearance of the cow puppet. In her haste to leave one class for another waiting one, Nadine said she inadvertently folded the cardtable so that the hole was visible to at least one watchful young girl who exclaimed that she knew were the cow came from after all.

Nadine said most of the children seemed to understand how good milk is for them and that they usually drink at least two glasses a day. They also enjoyed the cow erasers and color sheets that are a part of the presentations.

As she sees things, Nadine feels that the mother of the household probably needs the most promotional information concerning dairy products. The children learn in school and eat and drink what their mother buys for them from the grocery store. "In the general public, I think the mother needs the information because she buys for the smaller children," Nadine said. "They may think milk costs a lot, but for the value they get for their money that is a lot of nutrition," she added.

Nadine hopes to go into the local supermarkets before the end of the month to speak directly to the purchasing consumers.

Speaking and teaching come as a second nature to Nadine since she has had so much experience in 4-H, Grange, high school and college. She also has been a swimming instructor and aide for several years during the Summer.

"Swimming lessons take every morning leaving the afternoons free to me to do just about whatever needs to be done around the farm," she explained. When asked what jobs she liked the best, she replied, "I like them all. When the men are late in the field, I can start the milking or I drive when baling hay or I feed the calves when Dad needs someone to pitch in."

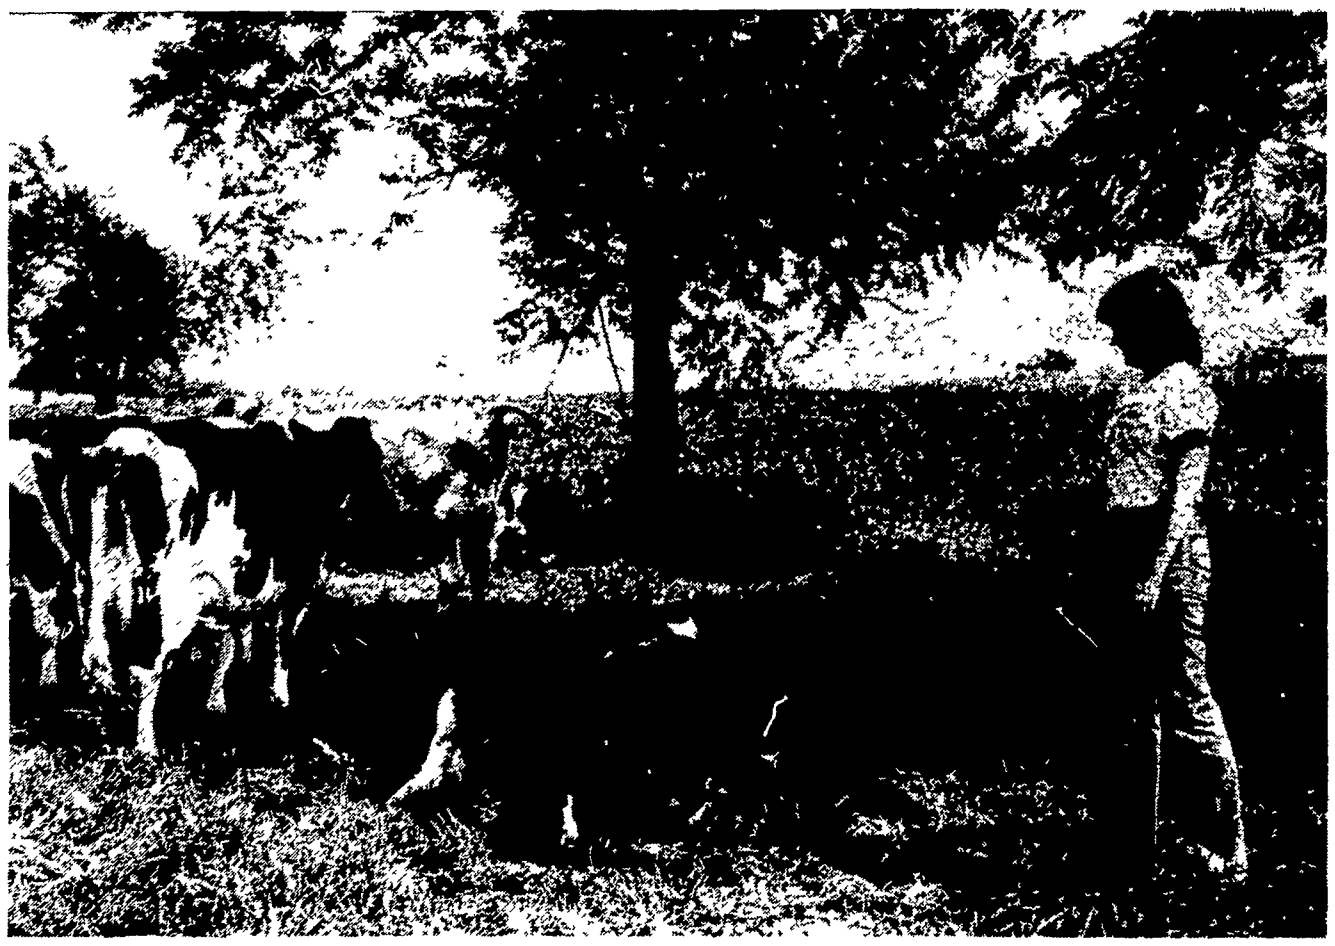
"I am proud to be a farmer's daughter, I think milk is important for good nutrition and I look forward to the future and its experiences in meeting people and making new friends," Nadine said.

Nadine comes from a family not afraid to invest time and talent in the dairy industry. Her father has been a director for Inter-State Milk producers for over a decade and undoubtedly Nadine has gained confidence in her knowledge of industry from his involvement.

During the Chester County pageant, the contestants have a twenty minute interview before the panel of judges for them to determine each contestant's knowledge about the dairy industry, her ability to answer questions and to remain poised and be an effective speaker even when under pressure.

Contestants must submit a scrapbook of their accomplishments in both school, church and community organizations. Impromptu questions are given out while the contestants are presented before the public audience during the pageant and the short promotional presentations are also given to the public gathering. The contestants themselves choose Miss Congeniality, which Nadine also won this year.

Nadine says she looks forward to a year of new experiences, making new acquaintances and giving her opportunities to talk to both children and adults.



Seen in the pasture of her parents' farm, Nadine helps with the family chores, including doing some of the milking.

Kendy's Kollumn

by Kendace Borry

Sometimes there are days when nothing seems to go right.

And last week seemed filled with times like that.

Last Wednesday, Rebel, our four-year-old Quarter horse gelding, came slowly in from the pasture, dragging his right hind leg behind him. The victim of barbed wire from nobody-knows-where, he was a sorry sight indeed.

Being that the pasture where he was quartered is a few miles from the house, it was necessary to trailer him home. But, alas, the trailer was in the shop to be inspected, and it was necessary to get the repairman to put the "thing" back together again so that the poor animal could go home to his stall to await the vet.

Finally the bay horse was led into his stall where he stood with head bowed, and leg scarely touching the ground.

The vet arrived, and started in with his shots, bandages, and ointments, announcing that the horse would be fine, but a lot of tender loving care would be needed in the next few weeks. That big bandage which stretches from ankle to hip has to be changed every day, and being that Rebel does not appreciate anyone within eight feet of that leg, life has had its exciting moments. Only with the vet there, does anyone attempt anything.

But Rebel was not yet done trying to self-destruct himself.

On Friday, when I came home from work, I noticed his right eye looked rather droopy and watery.

A quick examination by the helpful vet determined that he had managed to get a splinter in it, and that would have to be removed.

So Saturday morning, the horse was laid in the grass and very, very carefully, the offending sliver of wood was removed.

On Monday when I came home from work Rebel's halter was laying outside the stall--in pieces. Nobody knows how it got there, but the horse is obviously getting a little restless being cooped up. Stable life is boring and Rebel is a horse that loves to race around the fields 90 miles an hour.

And we have a week to ten days that he has to stay inside yet.

I wonder if I'll come home someday to find the barn wall kicked out.

I do love the horses, but it's times like these that make me wonder what life in the city is like.

Don't worry, Rebel, I didn't mean it.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Most native Lancaster Countians are thought of as being ultra conservative and also thrifty. They are not among the first to try something new and if something has the possibility of being reused, then it is carefully put aside. Maybe that is the reason our county is a haven for antique collectors. When something new is purchased, the old item is not thrown away because it just might be needed again.

However, there is a fine line between keeping useful things and storing things just for the sake of hoarding them. Often they are hidden away and can't even be found when they would be useful. I've heard people refer to those who pile things up the ceiling as having a "sickness." At least, they appear to be happy in their collecting ways.

I've been accused of saving some things that my children throw away. How can one burn a notebook with half of its pages unused? Or, why not pick out two or three of the biggest pencils when several dozen used ones are found in the bottom of the wastepaper can?

I admit that I have a small bag of shoelaces that are not matched but they are of varying lengths and often "come in handy." There is another bag of assorted watch bands and watch parts, which I've accumulated over the years, that is often used for repairs. Of course, I have a box of buttons, some odd pieces of string, a few grocery and plastic bags plus a collection of hardware. Frequently, I'm called on to produce just the right size small screw or nut for something at the barn.

As long as such accumulations are kept within reason, they can be an asset to a well run household—leastways, I think so.

Plant lovers' corner

Move, divide Iris in early Summer

FLEMINGTON, N.J. – Now that your vegetable garden is prepared and planted, it's time to work on your perennials. Late June and early July is the time to move and divide iris.

Clumps need dividing about every three or four years or they will become overgrown and unproductive. Trim off the leaves to about one-third their height. Lift the clump, wash off excess soil, and cut the original clump into several smaller ones.

Each should have at least one fan of leaves. Divisions having several fans of leaves will usually bloom the following year.

Iris grows best in full sunlight. The Japanese and Siberian irises will tolerate shade and can be grown in moist soil.

Plant the rhizome, or fleshy stem parallel with the soil surface. In heavy soil the top of the rhizome should be slightly above the ground. In light soil it may be an inch or two below the surface.

Established iris that are growing well do not need fertilizer. Weaker clumps may be fed a 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 fertilizer at one half cup for six small plants.

Scratch this lightly into the soil around the iris and then water thoroughly.

Colorado potato beetles

Resistant or not Ambush® gets 'em!

Everything you've wanted to know about Colorado potato beetle control can be summed up in two words—AMBUSH® insecticide! It works even where conventional insecticides fail! Add to that the backing of ICI Americas research and technical know-how and you've got control you can depend on.

AMBUSH applied according to label directions attacks the beetle and larvae at the two important times when damage occurs: 1. It knocks out the over-wintering population in the spring, 2. It controls the adults and larvae that strip the plants later in the season. Either way it gets these destructive pests as they feed on the treated plant or when they contact it.

When Colorado potato beetles attack there's no time for half-way controls. Go with the insecticide that is proven effective on resistant or non-resistant Colorado potato beetles go with AMBUSH® insecticide.

Ambush® is a product of ICI Americas Inc. Agricultural Chemicals Division Wilmington, DE 19897

We recommend AMBUSH® insecticide and can give you complete details for its use. Don't delay. Order your supply of AMBUSH® today while we have it.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

No one told us.

No one told us last Winter, when the June beach vacation was being planned, that we'd have the worst Spring planting and haying season in years.

No one told us that, when departure day would arrive, we'd still have acres of corn to plant and hay to make.

No one told us that, while we'd be away, one cow would abort a seven month calf, another would calve and go down with milk fever, and still another would take a one-way ride to New Bolton large animal clinic, eventually lost to the ravages of an internally split womb and undelivered dead calf.

And, it was just as well that we didn't know.

So because we didn't know, we went ahead with a marvelous vacation, a relaxing and much needed break for the entire family, and a chance to do some new things we'd never tried before.

Because we didn't know, Patty and Rich learned how to catch, cook and pick apart those delicious Chesapeake blue crabs. They discovered what it feels like to fish from a boat rocking in the waves of the mighty Atlantic. They experienced surf fishing, bicycling to every corner of peaceful little Bethany Beach, Delaware, and can relate what a sand shark and a skate (cousin to a sting ray) look like.

Because we didn't know, a clan of 15, grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins, moved in together for an unforgettable several days of swimming, fishing, cycling, boardwalking, sunbathing (burning?), evenings filled with games and crafts, and a sharing and fellowship that more tightly wrapped already strong family ties of love.

And because we didn't know, the problems were capably handled back home on the farm. Our presence would have done little to change the unusual cattle health developments.

How marvelous that our Creator saw fit not to let us know what would happen in all our tommorrows.

Think just how much we would all miss out of life.

Agricultural zoning recommended

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER — If farmland is going to be protected, it should be done with sound reasoning and planning. A Lancaster Countian who has been much involved in zoning gave a few pointers earlier this year on how it might be done.

"Prevent opposition," are two words of advice John Keretzman gives early while declaring that farmland should be protected. He has the distinction of being Lancaster County's only township zoning officer. He's on duty in Salisbury Township and he takes his responsibilities seriously.

Another suggestion from the zoning spokesman is that people involved in land-use planning familiarize themselves with literature that is available from the Lancaster County Planning Commission, and the Cooperative Extension Service. The LCPC has an extensive library on the subject, he added.

By studying the subject first and becoming familiar with other plans and requirements, people can avoid later embarrassment as well as save time, the zoning officer said. He was one of several speakers at a meeting sponsored last Spring by the Lancaster County League of Women Voters.

By knowing the facts early, and explaining them well, opposition might be kept to a minimum, or even avoided altogether, the zoning spokesman said. He noted that in his own township there was no opposition to an agricultural district, although there was resistance to the concept of zoning as a whole since the Mennonite and Amish sects oppose regulation.

Contrary to the rumors that circulate from time to time, Keretzman emphasizes that agricultural districts are legal. He says further that land should be farmed if farmers are expected to feed a growing population. Also, good soil should not be developed.

John Keretzman, a firm believer that farmland should be protected, explains how it's done in Salisbury Township, Lancaster County, where he enforces the ordinance.

Other considerations must also be kept in mind in a good zoning ordinance. The law requires that all types of zoning classes be provided for in an overall plan, Keretzman reminded. And agricultural zoning should work hand in hand with flood plain management and watersheds.

It's all being done in Salisbury Township, the lecturing zoning officer pointed out.

Salisbury Township is basically all agricultural land on a limestone plain where sinkholes are prevalent. With the formation of a planning commission in 1971, the township prepared to make arrangements for preservation as well as future needs.

A plan was required before actual zoning could take place. By early 1972, an ordinance was on the books which Keretzman describes as "one of the best in Lancaster County."

The number one industry in Salisbury Township is farming. Its greatest asset is agricultural land. The township zoning ordinance was written to preserve 65 per cent of its land for farming. Provisions for some subdivisons were written into the law so that homes could be built for immediate family members. But other than that, the only structures permitted are farm buildings, Keretzman emphasized.

In conclusion, the zoning officer says:

"Sooner or later somebody is going to take you to court to challenge the ordinance and how the provisions were determined." Again, the answer is making sure that things were done properly from the beginning. "Have soil suitability maps, and studies on on-site sewage feasibilities. Compile that information. "It all boils down to planning," he said.

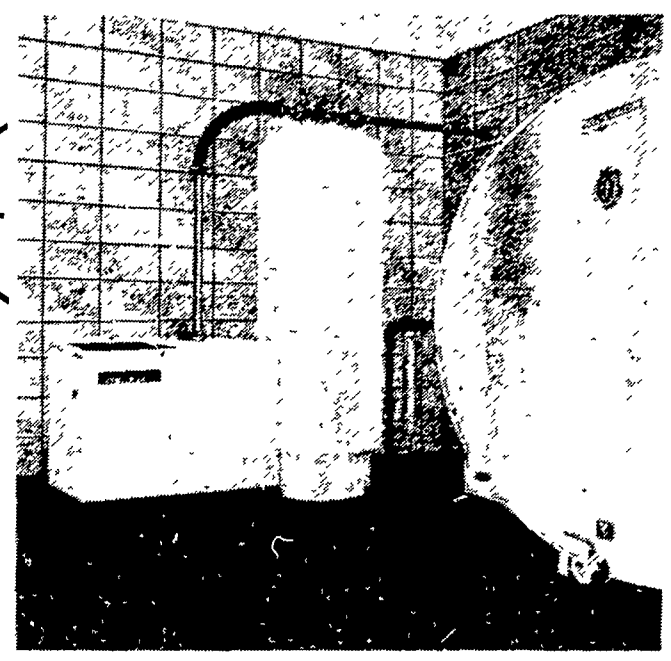
THE ALL STAINLESS STEEL MODEL-C FRE-HEATER FOR ALL BULK TANKS



Save Energy and get FREE HOT WATER . . .

With the revolutionary MUELLER FRE-HEATER®

The Mueller Fre-Heater conserves energy and provides "free" hot water by capturing the heat now wasted!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

Rather than using noisy, dust-creating fans with fragile, dirt collecting air-cooled condensers, refrigerant is routed to a specially designed condenser/heat exchanger and its heat is transferred to the water.

A thermostatically controlled valve delivers 140° F. water to the storage tank.

HOW MUCH HOT WATER CAN BE GENERATED?

As a rule of thumb, a Fre-Heater operating on 60° F. well water will produce a volume of 140° F. water similar to the amount of milk produced during a milking.

This is a screening program to detect any risk factors which you may have that increase your chances of having heart disease. The purpose is to identify people at risk and refer them into the medical care system for further evaluation and treatment. With this purpose, it is vital that the person requesting this screening give us the name and address of their physician so that if they are found to be at risk we may send a report to him. Anyone not giving a physician's name will not be allowed to complete the testing.

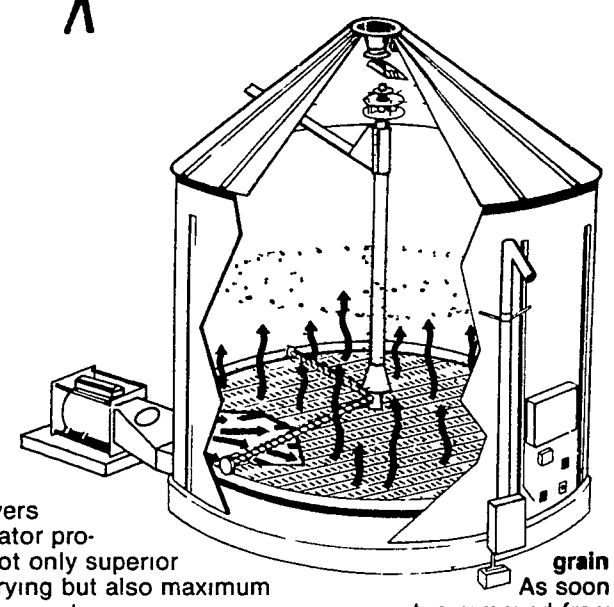
FUEL CONSERVANCY



Shivvers Circu-Lator provides not only superior grain drying but also maximum fuel conservation.

Preliminary results of a five-year university study provide proof of the Circu-Lator's ability to save the user fuel cost

Under the proper operating conditions the Circu-Lator can save up to 50 percent in energy costs compared to a drying bin equipped with a stirring device, according to the study

The superiority of the Shivvers system can be attributed to three major factors

First, the drying zone is always buried. The drying zone is that area in which the wet grain releases water vapor and the hot air absorbs moisture—where the actual drying takes place

In the Shivvers system the hot air becomes completely saturated since the drying zone is always below wet grain The drying air must always pass through at least two feet—and sometimes 16 feet—of wet grain before it is exhausted fully saturated

Over drying wastes fuel. With the Circu-Lator all grain is dried uniformly. As soon as the grain dries, it is removed from the bottom of the bin in a thin even layer by Shivvers' exclusive Tapered Sweep Auger. This eliminates the over drying of grain at the bottom level and under drying at the top level which can occur with a stirring device.

Added efficiency at no additional cost comes from the cooling process—the third important factor contributing to Shivvers' superiority.

Grain is removed from the drying bin at about 120°F and is transferred to the storage bin where it cools slowly. Cooling is accomplished by passing a low volume of air through the grain, removing an additional one to two percent of moisture as the grain and air temperatures equalize.

In effect the grain steeps in the storage bin, creating a slow cooling aeration process similar to dryeration. This extra drying is nearly free—the only cost being the electric power to run a small aeration fan for two to three days

Dairy goat experts to attend symposium

NEWARK, Del. - Goats could provide food for the protein-starved peoples of the world, says University of Delaware dairy specialist Dr. George F. W. Haenlein. Goats are inexpensive to raise, easy to manage, and don't compete with humans for food. And contrary to popular belief, they do not destroy the environment—unless humans crowd too many goats into too small an area.

In nations such as Panama where the child mortality rate is very high, a widow with a dairy goat and a little scrub land could keep her family healthy and well-fed—if she knew how.

Recognizing the need to send goat management information to the developing nations of the world, Haenlein has organized a major international forum and obtained funds from the Agency for International Development, the University of Delaware, the American Dairy Science Association, and U.S. Department of Agriculture to bring together the world's dairy goat experts for the two-day meeting.

The International Symposium on Dairy Goats is being held during the 74th Annual Meeting of the American Dairy Science Association, June 24 to 27, at Utah State University. Haenlein will join with other dairy goat experts from India, Egypt, West Germany, France, Malaysia, Israel, Turkey and the United States in presenting papers on dairy goat nutrition, management, and milk products. The information will be published and distributed around the world by the Agency for International Development, but will likewise benefit goat keepers in the U.S.A. for the improvement of their management.

A new collection of the world literature on dairy goats will also benefit the growing number of U.S. goat farmers, Haenlein points out.

U.S. energy policy termed inefficient

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. – The president of a major U.S. petroleum company on Monday characterized American government energy policies as evidenced by "inefficiency, aggravated by myopia," and suggested several actions to relieve current and future fuel shortages.

John R. Grey, president, Standard Oil Co. of California, speaking at The Fertilizer Institute annual Marketing Conference, held here, urged both state and federal legislators to face the need for long range national action. "An immediate requirement is to hack away in earnest at ... red tape that has bound and mummified vital energy projects." An example given was the frustrated effort of Sohio to build a pipeline to move Alaskan oil to the Southwest.

Grey stressed that the most immediate need is for fuel conservation, particularly of gasoline. He said that economists with his company estimate that if every American who drives would save just one gallon of gasoline per week by driving less, the present shortage would disappear. Industry and homeowners already have made significant strides in conservation of fuels, he noted, but more must be done to reduce dependency on imported oil.

Grey agreed with fuel priority for agriculture, he told the group of fertilizer industry executives. "The U.S. must be able to fuel and fertilize the farms," if we hope to continue to feed our nation and much of the world. Chevron, he pledged, will continue to serve all of its farm-related customers at 100 per cent of their gasoline needs. "We have never needed government to tell us our obligation to American farms," he noted, and added that even before government rulings granting 100 percent diesel requirements to agriculture, Chevron was treating farm diesel fuel needs exactly as farm gasoline priorities.

Government, Grey stressed, must seek a more reasonable balance between desirable environmental goals and needed energy development. A hopeful step, he noted, is the government offering in late June of California off-shore oil leases, the first such sale in the Santa Barbara channel in 10 years. That lengthy delay, he charged, is "almost wholly due to poorly informed and greatly exaggerated environmental fears, along with a rather astonishing disregard of America's great need for more domestic oil and gas."

Special attention must be paid to further coal development, Grey urged. "Coal has enormous potential as a source of liquid fuels." But, increased coal production and use, called for by the President, "has been stymied by legalistic and bureaucratic manuevering to the point where, as coal producers complain, 'We can't dig it, and you can't burn it'."

Development of North American reserves of tar sands and oil shale hold great energy promise, as does research on wind and solar energy sources, he said.

Nuclear energy, obviously confronted currently with difficulties, still must not be dismissed as a resource, Grey emphasized, and added that nuclear power supplies the equivalent of 1.5 million barrels of oil per day.

Grey deplored what he called a "pathetic political search" for a national energy policy - one that seems to have become a ritual of "jawboning a reluctant public into conservation," combined with politically-inspired distrust of business. "When government tells you it must regulate you more, government is telling you it trusts you less," he said, and warned industry executives that anyone who willingly submits to greater government controls - even for temporary advantages - eventually will regret that decision.

Government energy-related actions, since the oil embargo crisis of 1973-74, have been counter-productive, he said. "Where land is needed for exploration, government has withdrawn land ... government has made it virtually impossible to build new refineries. Where wasteful energy use is a problem, and dependence on foreign supplies a threat, government holds prices down and subsidizes imports."

Maryland 4-H dairy bowl winners named

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - After three years of domination by Frederick County, new champion teams were crowned following this year's fourth annual Maryland 4-H Dairy Bowl competition, held June 9 at the University of Maryland in College Park.

A Carroll County team won the senior championship, and a Harford County team captured top honors in the junior division.

Members of the winning Carroll County senior team were Anne Powel, 16, of Union Bridge, captain; Lisa Bond, 15, of Sykesville, co-captain; Carolyn Diem, 15, of Manchester, and Todd Weant, 15, of Taneytown.

Team coach was Mrs. Karen Hobson of Taneytown, a former Baltimore city girl now married to a dairy farmer.

The Carroll County senior 4-H group will represent Maryland in regional competition during the Atlantic Rural Exposition 4-H Dairy Bowl contest on September 22 at Richmond, Va. That event is held annually in conjunction with the State Fair of Virginia. A Frederick County team won this event for Maryland in 1977.

Members of the winning Harford County junior team were John Trout, 13, of Forest Hill, captain; Linda Poole, 12, of Jarrettsville; Julie Garber, 13, of White Hall, and Joan Nagness, 14, of White Hall.

Team coach was Mrs. Ruth Ann Poole of Jarrettsville, leader of the Harford County 4-H dairy club. Mrs. Poole's daughter, Linda, was a member of the team.

Another Carroll County team was runner-up in the junior division of this year's Maryland 4-H Dairy Bowl contest, and Baltimore county was runner-up in the senior division.

There were six county teams entered in the junior contest, and eight teams in the senior division. This was the largest participation in the four-year history of the event, according to Dr. Tony K. Rickard, Extension dairy science specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

The 4-H dairy bowl competition is a knowledge event, patterned after the 4-H horse bowl program which started about seven years ago in Maryland. Modified versions have been used since 1977 in the Old Line State as learning experiences for 4-H livestock, consumer education and poultry projects.

The concept will be used again this year during the second day of a 4-H livestock round-up, scheduled June 26 and 27 at the state fairground in Timonium.

Format of the 4-H bowl contests is patterned after a popular television show, titled "It's Academic." Most of the questions asked in 4-H bowl competition are of a practical nature, with emphasis on production and management.

4-H fashion show held

FLEMINGTON, N.J. – The members of the Cherryville Homemakers 4-H Club recently held a fashion show for their mothers. Modeling in the fashion show were: Ericka and Heidi Zipfel, Janet Thorne, Ruth Stehr, Karen Soltys, Julie and Kathy Radnai, Shirley and Doris Lefebvre, Carolyn Conlon and Betty Benedik. Luise Zipfel, Karen Soltys, and Doris Lefebvre were narrators for the program. Presentations were given by Betty Benedik, Shirley Lefebvre and Ericka Zipfel.

A special presentation about Mary Kay Cosmetics was given by Mrs. Martha Warr. The members are now looking foward to their club outing which will take place later in this month.

Advertising effectively boosts direct market produce sales

NEWARK, Del. - Effective advertising is important to building sales in any business. It can definitely boost receipts at a roadside or pick-your-own fresh produce operation, says University of Delaware Extension crops marketing specialist Carl German.

One of the most obvious ways to reach potential clients is through road signs--providing they're effectively designed and strategically placed. Relatively simple signs with a minimum of detail are best since they're easiest to read.

The average motorist going by at 40 mph can read only five words in a sign 100 feet away and fully visible. To be legible at this distance and speed, letters need to be a minimum of 3½ inches high. Black letters on a yellow or orange background, green on white, red on white, black on white, or navy blue on white are some of the most readable color combinations.

Some direct market operators like to use signs leading up to their stands to advertise the kind of produce offered there. But two signs aren't necessarily better than one, notes the economist.

Location is just as important as legibility, when it comes to a roadside sign. It needs to be placed far enough away from the market so that customers can react to the information on it, make the decision to stop, and then stop safely. According to German, the minimum recommended distance from a sign to a market is ¼ mile in a 40 mph area and 3/10 mile in a 50 mph area.

Besides road signs there are other effective ways to advertise a direct market fresh produce venture. Advertising in local newspapers, on television and radio, or via direct mailings and brochures are all common practices. This type of promotion effort may be especially helpful in stimulating business in areas with a seasonal population.

Printed bags can serve as a reminder to "come again." Some places have delivery trucks that bear the name and location of the market.

Remember, though, that the best means of attracting satisfied customers is absolutely free. Happy customers, pleased with the quality and freshness of produce, can be a most valuable asset to any direct marketing venture--whether it's a pick-your-own operation or a roadside stand.

Rogers resigns from post

HARRISBURG - George Rodgers, Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Grange, announced his resignation, effective June 18, 1979, at the State Grange's Executive Committee meeting in Harrisburg recently.

Rodgers ended his three-year career at the State Grange to take a position with Agway.

Beginning his employment with the Grange as Assistant to the Master under J. Luther Snyder, Rodgers was elected to the State Secretary's post at the Annual Sessions in Butler last Fall.

Carl Deibert, Bedford, was named as Rodger's successor by the State Grange Executive Committee.

In the past, Deibert has served the Grange as a member of the Finance Committee from 1959 to 1962, and as a member of the Executive Committee from 1962 to 1968.

Deibert will hold the State Secretary's position until October, when a special election will be held.

The winner of this special election will complete the remaining year of the unfinished term.

The new State Secretary will be installed in office later this month in his home Grange, Bedford Grange, No. 619, in Bedford County.

MONTHLY COW SALE HELD 1st THURSDAY EACH MONTH AT 7:30 P.M.

PURINA DAIRY NEWS

VOLUME 1 NUMBER 3 JUNE 23, 19

Ruben Houser and his top cow Lisa, Hilltop Apollo Ivanhoe, Born August 22, 1972

MANAGEMENT + BREEDING + HI-ENERGY FEED = 150 LBS. OF MILK ON TEST DAY

Ruben Houser knows his cows! Lisa had previously milked 25,723 lbs. of milk. She had a good dry period - calved with no problems. When Lisa hit 120 lbs. of milk on her first test, Ruben knew she could do more - but how much more? He set his goal - 150 lbs. on next test day. On June 12 P.M. Lisa milked 77 lbs. and on June 13 A.M. she milked 74 lbs. giving her 151 lbs. total.

The Ralston Purina Company wants to congratulate Ruben and Renee Houser on this fine dairy achievement. Ruben, Renee and their two daughters live in Lebanon, Pa. They rent their barn and pasture for their 33 registered holsteins from Ruben's father. In addition to having a fine dairy herd, Ruben also is an auctioneer and conducts public auctions.

NUTRITIONAL PROGRAMMING HELPS SOLVE PROBLEMS

Having a sound easy to follow dairy program helps to solve problems when they occur. Energy level and balance between calcium and phosphorus are most important to high producing cows. Programming helps supply the right mineral balance and avoid milk fever - knowing the energy requirements lets you know how much feed the high producing cow needs during the critical breeding and settling period.

15 OUT OF 33 HIT 100

Ruben plans to milk a total of 40 cows. Of the 33 cows presently in the barn, 15 cows have hit the 100 lb. mark during their current lactation. That's quite a record when you consider that of the 33 total cows, 9 are 1st calf heifers. Getting the right feed to the right cows at the right stage of lactation is the key.

Hard work, the right kind of hay, and a good feed are the basics needed to make milk. Ruben is a full time dairyman which means he buys all his roughage and feed. The cows are making the money, and it takes time to do things right and have a first class dairy operation. Ruben keeps his feed cost down by using two feeds on the milking herd. Cows just fresh and producing over 70 lbs. of milk are fed Purina Test Cow. Cows under 70 lbs. are fed a home mix of ear corn and Purina Cow 38. Ruben knows that hay is important to butterfat test. He feeds a good alfalfa hay twice a day and a good grass hay twice per day. Once he stopped feeding the grass hay and went to all alfalfa - when the next test papers came and he saw that his high producing cows had lost their fat test, he went back to feeding grass hay and the fat test came back up. Ruben knows that a high testing cow must chew her cud - a cow's saliva contains natural buffers which controls the PH of the rumen.

Ruben reviews dairy program with Purina Distri Manager Don Mahlandt
